Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21—Of the Wickersham report you might say that the commission came out of a solemn conference and straddled the fence. You get the impression that gentlemen chosen for political purposes don't quite dare say what they think.

They affirm that prohibition doesn't work, and there isn't adequate observance or enforcement. They suggest spending more money on prohibition, and confirm what has often been said here, that those now young will be old before prohibition comes out of the Constitution, since nothing less than a revolution could take it out.

Further, no legal sanction of light wines and beer is recommended.

The best that wets can hope for is increasing bootleg production, the law falling into deeper contempt.

Philadelphia's liberty bell, silent for 100 years, will issue 13 cracked sounds, one in honor of each original state, on Washington's birthday. If Washington at the sound could rise, like Napoleon's old soldier when he heard the cannon growl, he would be interested in the 48 United States of 1931.

He would wonder at our calm submission to organized crime, in the gutter and higher up, but would be proud of the country's size and power.

At the advertising club of Los Angeles luncheon yesterday several railroad presidents, including Gen. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania and Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific, talked about railroads and what they and the public need.

J. L. Haugh, vice-president of the Union Pacific, reminded the large gathering that this nation is the largest area in the world enjoying free trade. California ships her products from 1800 to 3500 miles in different directions no tariff anywhere.

If the Russian experiment goes through to success, perhaps with some capitalistic and military leader taking the job away from the Bolsheviks, as Napoleon took it from the French revolution, Russia and Siberia combined might have a free trade area bigger than the United States.

Regarding [illegible] it will take care of any country to have an eye to a business as ours. There is no excuse for bad conditions [illegible] here, except the excuse of theirs, ignorance.

Killing the value of silver has ruined hundreds of millions of the world's people. Attracting that vested stock gambling has taken the minds of millions from their real business.

And our stupid immigration laws shut out the populations on which our success and prosperity are built. But all that foolishness will be overcome.

The United States offers to lend China 200,000,000 ounces of silver for 50 years, according to news from Peiping.

Governments change rapidly in China and 50 years hence China's rulers may have forgotten about the loan.

However, we have the silver and it doesn't matter much whether we have it, or China has it.

Lent at present prices, if we got it back at 1931 prices plus interest, we should probably make a net profit of 100 per cent above interest.

The world will not be stupid enough to leave silver at its present price, thus making it impossible for 800,000,000 users of silver money to buy goods in the markets of gold standard nations.

Even in sunny Los Angeles, some men like to express their opinions violently.

So called "reds," otherwise men and women who think we haven't a perfect system of government, determined to hold a parade, and the police said, "You mustn't." Tear gas was used, and police automobiles bumped, at not too high speed, into the parading crowd. The police won the fight, but several have bleeding noses, faces bruised, knuckles skinned.

More than two million people live in Los Angeles and the substantial cities that are direct continuations of Los Angeles. This season 675,053 automobiles have come from other states, bringing 1,864,000 people.

Draw your own conclusions about the future of this place.

You could have bought the whole thing not long ago for a few thousand dollars.

The father of Eugene Meyer, head of the Federal Reserve, said, "I sold my land in Los Angeles, invested it in my businesses with Lazard Freres, and made money. But I should have made ten times as much if I had simply kept the land."

Get good land, keep it, and it will keep you.

That applies to land well

DRY REPORT 'PUZZLE' TO SENATE

3 PATROLMEN CALLED IN EXAM PROBE

Superintendent Crowley Is to Question Them on Unfairness at Police Test

Three patrolmen, two of whom are credited with statements that they were approached to buy questions and answers on Saturday's civil service examination, were summoned to Supt. Michael Crowley's office at police headquarters this afternoon.

It was the first tangible move in a dust investigation of "unfairness" reports Dan Fellows' examination of 1200 patrolmen for promotion.

Supt. Crowley withheld the names of the three, but said he had heard through channels that they talked of irregularities in the methods of the examination.

ORDERED TO REPORT.

He notified their superiors to have them report for questioning as soon as they could be reached. One had to be located at home on account of his status as a night officer.

The two investigations, called by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman and Civil Service Commissioner Elliot H. Goodwin, followed rumored reports and the receipt of anonymous letters by both that some aspirants were accorded advantages over others.

Commissioner Hultman issued a statement today asking any of those who took the examination and saw anything irregular to report the facts to his office and "lay the cards on the table."

Hultman's statement came after

$150,000 Rum Boat Seized

With liquor valued at $150,000 aboard, the Canadian motorship Firelight was captured by coast guards today off Eastern Point, Gloucester, after a chase of two miles that ended in a crash between the two.

The Firelight was sighted eight miles off shore, according to the commander of the 125-foot coast guard patrol boat Harriet Lane, who made the capture.

No shots were fired, the coast guard commander said, but he charged the Canadian craft failed to heed warnings given on the siren.

The Firelight headed inshore and when the coats guard craft sought to board the vessel ground, damaging the Firelight to the starboard side of the patrol boat to port. The Firelight's captain and crew of nine were held for questioning.

Former Wellesley Professor, 83, Dead

Littlehampton, Sussex, Eng., Jan. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Lewis French Stearns, of Bangor, Me., who was a former member of the faculty of Wellesley College in its first year, died here today at the age of 83.

She was the widow of Prof. Lewis F. Stearns and the daughter of Samuel P. Benson, chairman of the ways and means committee of the American House of Representatives before the Civil War. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna S. Grigg, wife of Joseph W. Grigg, London correspondent for the New York Sun.

CURLEY WINS IN BATTLE FOR AIRPORT

House Committee Favors Ceding Governor's Island to City for Project

Washington, Jan. 21—Mayor Curley of Boston today won his first victory toward the ceding of Governor's Island to Boston for airport development in a favorable report of the House Sub-Committee on Military Affairs.

After a speech before the sub-committee by Mayor Curley, Representative James M. Mitchell, chairman, said he would report favorably on the project to the full committee within a week.

The chairman's decision came after he indicated that he would propose an army airport site at Boston at a meeting of committee.

Mayor Curley then explained that $25,000,000 had been appropriated by the municipality of Boston for airport purposes and asked that authority be given to do the work within six months as a means of relieving unemployment.

IN CASE OF WAR

"The Boston airport, when completed, would provide an air field of 1000 acres and 1000 more by filling," the mayor told the committee.

"But if war comes we wouldn't want to take it from you," Chairman Mitchell said.

"If war comes you take it over; we are willing to take that gamble," the mayor replied.

Rep. Wainwright (R.), New York, interrupted with a statement of surprise at the coast defenses as outlined by Mayor Curley, when the latter told him the only big guns protecting the harbor were at Hog Island.

The mayor then told the committee the airport would be open to army reserve flying and because of the many universities around Boston the field would be available for student flying.

HURLEY IN FAVOR

"If we could do the work in six months, I'd like to do it," he said.

"I believe if we spent all our money in six months this depression would be over, but probably it will take two and a half years, but it will help to relieve unemployment," he added.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley already had expressed himself in favor of ceding the island and other War Department officials also have approved the project.

Regardless of congressional action on the island lease, the city will continue the work on the $16,000,000 East Boston tunnel, the mayor announced, after his first victory.

GARRETT TRIAL ADJOURNED BY SICKNESS

Ex-Raider's Wife, Suffering From Heavy Cold, Has to Leave Court

Illness of Mrs. Florence H. Garrett in the courtroom this morning caused adjournment of the Garrett trial until tomorrow.

She was reported to be suffering from a heavy cold and to be running a temperature of 102.

The trial, in its twelfth day, was temporarily halted twice out of deference to her condition before Judge Patrick A. Keating declared adjournment.

Following a second recess she was attended by two courthouse nurses and by her Brighton home with Miss Lillian V. Hatch, confidential aid to her and Oliver B. Garrett, ex-police raider, at the trial of conspiracy charges.

The first recess was declared at noon in order that she might take medicine prescribed for her last night by Dr. William Glaser who was called to attend her at home.

HAS HEAVY COLD

The second followed about three-quarters of an hour later and she left the court on the arm of Miss Hatch and accompanied by two women friends or relatives who have been spectators at the trial.

Before the adjournment was taken, her counsel, Daniel J. Gallagher, said she has had a cold for two days. It was her own wish to remain through the day's session, he said, but he advised against it, believing that with an afternoon and night of rest she will be fit in the morning.

To spectators at the trial late yesterday it was apparent that the attractive blonde wife of the former liquor raider was suffering considerable discomfort.

When the trial resumed this morning she called for several glasses of water as her throat were supplied by a court officer.

M'DONALD IS DEFEATED

London, Jan. 21 (INS)—Amid loud cries of "Resign!" from the Conservative benches, the government of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald sustained a defeat today when the House of Commons passed an amendment to the education school attendance bill, deferring its effectiveness until 1932. The bill would make education compulsory up to the age of 16.

The amendment was passed by a vote of 282 to 240. Forty-one other Laborites supported the measure.

In the midst of a wild outburst several members called upon the government to submit its resignation.

Premier MacDonald arose from his place on the government bench and pointed out that the vote was not vital and did not involve the government's resignation.

The government, he said, intended to continue with the bill as amended.

GEN. EDWARDS IS STRONGER

Gen. Clarence R. Edwards was a little stronger this afternoon, according to a bulletin issued by his doctors at Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital.

The bulletin was issued at 2:15 o'clock, following a consultation of three doctors in the sick room.

It read:

"Gen. Edwards had a fairly comfortable night. He is a little stronger today, having taken his nourishment satisfactorily.

"(Signed) Drs. Cheever, Robey and Miller."

During the consultation the General's sister, Mrs. Charles A. Otis of Cleveland, and her son William, waited in an adjoining room. After the doctor's report they left without seeing the patient.

Dr. Richard H. Miller, who operated on Gen. Edwards for an intestinal obstruction a week ago, was at the hospital early this forenoon to relieve Dr. Horatio Rogers, who had spent the night at the bedside.

At midnight Dr. Rogers had issued a report of "slightly weaker," but during the early morning hours there were some indications of improvement.

TYDINGS FOR PROBE INTO MEANING OF FINDINGS

By GEORGE E. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 21—Only covering over the Wickersham prohibition report bubbled and frothed all over the Capital today.

Many senators and congressmen burned midnight oil devouring the lengthy text of the report and when the sessions of both houses opened at noon they were primed for business and bursting with inquiries over the many strange and anomalous features of it.

In the early hours of the session there were two developments:

A resolution was introduced in the Senate by Senator Tydings (D.) of Maryland, calling for a senatorial investigation to determine the meaning of the commission's findings. It set forth that the membership of Congress is "puzzled" by the paradoxes of the report.

HITS HOOVER

A resolution was sponsored in the House by Representative Laguardia (R.) of New York, calling for a sweeping congressional investigation into the whole structure of prohibition, in order to get at the "shocking" evidence of graft and corruption which Commissioner William S. Kenyon, in his statement, said had been laid before the commission. This resolution provided the investigation should be conducted by two senators and three representatives and an appropriation of $50,000 was proposed for expenses.

The commission's report and its chairman, George W. Wickersham, was attacked by Senator Hawes (D) of Missouri, who made the thinly veiled charge that the commission was "influenced" in high places to return a dry set of conclusions on a mass of wet evidence.

Chairman Wickersham indignantly denied that President Hoover had "brought pressure" to bear on the commission to render a report advising against the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Rep. Franklin Fort (R.) of New Jersey, close friend of President Hoover, and who ran as a dry candidate for the Senate against Dwight Morrow, declared that "the question of repeal or revision of the 18th Amendment should be submitted to constitutional conventions to be held in the states forthwith. That is the only way to clarify the public mind."

ANTI-PROHIBITIONISTS CHARGE HOOVER SWAYED LAW BOARD

The Tydings' resolution, like Hawes' attack, both contained the bald inference that "pressure" had been brought to bear upon the commission to render a report which was signed by 10 members, but to which all of them dissented in one form or another.

The commission's critics in Congress professed utter bewilderment as to how it was possible for the members to sign a report recommending against repeal of the 18th amendment, against modification of the Volstead act, and against government sale and supervision of liquor, while at the same time, and over their own signatures, appending to the report individual statements recommending repeal and revision of the amendment.

MEMBERS ANGRY

Meanwhile, those members of the commission remaining in Washington and holding forth at the elaborate headquarters in the Tower building, were chafing under the criticism that poured in from all directions.

Inquirers at the commission offices met ruffled tempers. Chairman Wickersham and Dean Roscoe Pound were particularly incensed at the widespread charges that President Hoover had exerted his influence to soften the tone of the report, and to make it conform more to his own dry position.

"There is absolutely no foundation in fact for such reports," Chairman Wickersham declared.

The White House was silent concerning the charges.

In commenting on the report and the President's message to Congress, Senator Hawes said:

"The report produced little and advocated doing nothing. The President made a slight advance in omitting the word "noble" which he had formerly used, confining his discussion this time to the single word 'experiment.'

"The President should now express his personal opinion. He will find facts established by the commission upon which to base a definite conclusion.

WASTE OF MONEY

"Of the eleven separate opinions, that of Chairman Wickersham is the weakest, the most evasive, illogical and difficult to understand. As we say in Missouri: 'It is time to take the chairman's shoes off and put him on pasture.'

"His failure to bring in an understandable majority and report by subject which could be accomplished by any committee in the House or the Senate, or any international tribunal) is the result of the refusal of the commission to take the public into its confidence by holding public hearings and giving our citizens an opportunity to weigh the value and character of evidence upon which the report is based.

"Open hearings would have forced a definite expression. We have wasted $500,000 to secure conclusive and convincing 'wet' facts, admitting a breakdown in law enforcement, only to have those facts diverted into a final conclusion recommending that nothing can be done.

"One forms the impression that a majority of the commission desired to say something worth while and some one stopped them from this expression.

PLEASES "GANGS"

"The report does not please the 'drys' nor does it please the 'wets.' It will be a source of great satisfaction, however, to the leaders of 'gangland' who will continue to grow fat and opulent under the final recommendation to do nothing.

There was much speculation today as to what final action would be taken on this report.

The present Congress, of course, will do nothing with the Wickersham report. It is overwhelmingly dry, and besides it has only some thirty-odd days of legislative power left before it expires by constitutional limitation on March 4.

It is even doubtful if the new 72d Congress will be able to do much. Unless there is a special session, it will not assemble until next December, which will be on the eve of the 1932 campaign, and Congress rarely plunges into a controversy of such far-reaching proportions at such a time.

HOOVER'S STAND

The drys privately are horror-stricken at some of the evidence brought out in the report, and particularly are they apprehensive and uneasy over the significant fact that seven out of the eleven members of the commission put themselves on record as favoring immediate revision of the 18th Amendment, and the remaining four indicated they favored such action should enforcement not show decided improvement in the next few years.

It was the political aspect of the situation, however, that engaged most attention in Washington today.

On all sides it was accepted that President Hoover has elected to make his stand in 1932 on the dry-est side of the political river. In his communication to Congress, transmitting the Wickersham report, he went further than he has ever gone before in espousing the prohibition end of the controversy.

Hereinfore, on the few occasions in which he gingerly dealt with prohibition he has confined himself entirely to the enforcement aspect of the problem. The philosophical side of it, the rightness or wrongness of prohibition, he has largely ignored or evaded.

Yesterday, however, he not only recorded with seeming finality his conviction that the Eighteenth Amendment should not be repealed, but he went out of his way to deal a blow to the alternative plan of a substitute for the amendment which would put the whole question of liquor control back into the hands of Congress.

In a number of the individual statements, there are direct references to the fact that the main body of the report recommended the revision of the 18th amendment without qualification.

REPORT CHANGED

Thus Col. Henry W. Anderson said in his statement:

"I concur in the recommendation of the report that the Eighteenth Amendment be modified as stated therein."

The statements of Judge Kenyon, Judge Gribb, and even of Chairman Wickersham himself contained similar references.

Yet the report contained no such definite recommendation, which was rather curious in view of the unmistakable references to it in the statements.

Senator Walsh (D), of Massachusetts, said:

"The joint report and the individual reports of the 11 members of the Wickersham commission are an exhaustive indictment of prohibition, all the more devastating because it originates in the House of its friends.

"The commission is unanimous in reaching the self-evident verdict that the Eighteenth Amendment has been neither generally obeyed nor effectively enforced. The commission is unanimously opposed to the restoration of the legalized saloon. But the commission, as stated in the report that the commission is opposed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, seems to be designedly misleading and to put a false front on the real tenor of the report.

BOON TO REPEALISTS

"Mr. Hoover serves upon the misleading conclusion that the commission does not favor repeal and says he is in accord with that view. But, he rejects their outstanding recommendation and declares against any revision of the amendment.

"Regardless of what the President says or does, the result of this investigation and conclusions of the Wickersham commission, once they are duly grasped by the country at large, should be to give little comfort to prohibition zealots and to give great further impetus to the drive to rid the nation of its present prohibition incubus.

Senator Wesley Jones, (R), Washington, author of the famous Jones "Five and Ten Law," said:

"The President's message I liked very much. While some may disagree with him, they cannot doubt what his stand is. There is no question but that he is in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment as it stands.

"The commission has made some very valuable suggestions, even with their disagreement."

Senator Hugo Black, (D), Alabama, said:

"We appropriated $500,000 for a commission to study the question with a view of formulating a prohibition policy. Individual opinions form a majority of the commission against the amendment, yet the general report is in favor of its continuance.

"The President's political policy had much more effect on the conclusions than the facts found."

Darrow Raps "Cranks" in Scoring Dry Report

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 21 (INS)—Clarence Darrow scored the Wickersham commission and its report with sarcasm shortly after his arrival in Syracuse for a debate today.

He laughed when he learned that the report of the commission made no suggestion to change the status quo. But, he admitted, he had expected nothing else from the commission.

"Certainly, the commission wouldn't advocate a change," he said.

"This country will not rid itself of prohibition through repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment for many years to come. I'll tell the government how to get out of its prohibition muddle. Don't appropriate one cent for enforcement, then see how long prohibition will last.

"The cranks! Millions of men are dying. They need money for food. Yet the commission wants more money spent so that they shouldn't drink. Those prohibitionists don't care whether a man eats or not."

"Dry Law Enforcement Failed," Says Anderson

Richmond, Va., Jan. 21 (AP)—Henry W. Anderson, who as a member of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission recommended the revision of the Eighteenth Amendment and suggested a government liquor control plan, said today he had received a number of communications since its publication, but that he had not had opportunity to consider them.

"If the present law could be enforced, I should favor it," Mr. Anderson said, "but the evidence is overwhelming that it is not being enforced. We made a great step forward in the abolition of the saloon. I do not want to see this lost.

"The plan I propose will preserve what we have gained and meet the existing evils."

French View Report as Proof of Law's Failure

Paris, Jan. 21 (AP)—Reading of the Wickersham report on prohibition here has strengthened Frenchmen in their belief that prohibition has not been completely successful in the United States.

There was disappointment here that the report did not reinstate the wines, big wine interests having hoped they would be given back their American market.

Davis Sees Victory for Drys in Report

"A body blow to the Quebec plan and a disappointment to the 'wets,'" is the characterization made today by Arthur J. Davis, superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League of the Wickersham report.

"The commission in the summary signed by its members expressly opposes either the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or restoration in any manner of the legalized saloon," says Davis

New York Legislators Act to Speed Repeal

Albany, Jan. 21 (INS)—After careful study of the Wickersham report, Democrat leaders of the New York Legislature today introduced two resolutions calling upon Congress to take immediate steps to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law.

The proposals were sponsored by Senator Bernard Downing and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, Democratic leaders of the Senate and Assembly, and at the request of Republican leaders were referred to committee.

Italian Wine Growers Disappointed by Report

Rome, Jan. 21 (AP)—Italian wine growers and merchants with large wine stocks are disappointed at the dryness of the Wickersham report on prohibition. They had been hoping that by some magic the report would turn the country wet overnight.

There was no surprise in official quarters, however, and no comment on what is regarded as purely an internal matter in America. The Italian embassy at Washington will remain wet an ever, it was said.

CROOKER SEES REPORT AS AN AID TO REPEAL

Liberal Civic League Counsel Calls It "Behind Public Sentiment"

The Wickersham report is chiefly ammunition for the cause of prohibition repeal, but it lags behind public opinion, in the opinion of Conrad Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic League, Inc., who expressed his views in a statement today.

"An examination of the press summary of the commission's findings clearly indicates that their disposition is to follow the overwhelming repeal sentiment of the country," said Atty. Crooker.

"The reports as a whole can give no aid or comfort to the prohibition side of the great controversy, but will on the contrary insofar as its majority opinion is inffidental be useful in the repeal cause.

"The commission, although tending in the direction of repeal, is a good bit behind public sentiment and for this reason it will not lead future public opinion upon this issue to any great extent.

"It is interesting to note that Miss Comstock and Dean Pound, two members closely identified with university life and the effect of prohibition upon the youth of the country, have taken a position that follows closely in the footsteps of Dr. Hopkins of Dartmouth."

receipt of an anonymous letter that said a recess in one room gave some the opportunity of discussing questions with others before they could call upon to answer them.

A similar letter, apparently from the same person, was sent Civil Service Commissioner Goodwin and a subsequent investigation by Supt. Crowley has shown no basis for the letter thus far, the police head said.

"I wish that if any of the officers who took the examinations have anything on their mind they will come to my office at once and lay the cards on the table," he said.

"I want each and every one to get a fair deal in examinations.

"I forwarded the letter I received to Commissioner Goodwin and instructed Superintendent Crowley to inquire into any and all complaints."

Commissioner Goodwin explained that an impression that questions had been sold may have been gained through the presence of pamphlets that are given for study by applicants.

"On the possibility of a slipup, however, I am making an investigation," he said.

War doesn't pay, crime doesn't pay, Miss Lucille Walters, 19-year-old blonde, out here, admits many robberies. She wore a red wig, blackened her eyebrows, and collected about $2000. Said she, "All I have got to show for it is a hat, dress and a pair of shoes worth $12." She lost a good deal at poker.

POLES' 'BLOODY TERROR' FLAYED BY GERMANY

Curtius Demands League Act to Stop "Outrages" in Silesia

Geneva, Jan. 21 (AP)—Charges of "menaces, acts of terrorism and bloody violence" were laid before the council of the League of Nations today by Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, in a formal protest at Polish treatment of German minorities in Upper Silesia.

German Polish relations growing out of the minorities question are regarded in Geneva as one of the greatest threats to the peace of post-war Europe. It has been feared for weeks that the debate begun today will set off international antagonisms of far-reaching consequences.

CHARGE LEAGUE WEAKENED.

Herr Curtius charged that not only had Germans been mistreated, but that other racial minorities, particularly Ukrainians, had suffered during the November election period.

"This sad catalogue of acts of violence," he declared, had weakened the faith of minorities in the good offices of the League of Nations. The "insurgents," against whom his accusations were lodged, he said, are semi-military and numbered about 40,000 in Upper Silesia.

He stated that they acted in close relation with the Polish authorities and were subject to the authorities' orders.

DISTURBANCES ADMITTED

August Zaleski, Polish foreign minister, admitted disturbances had arisen during the recent election, but declared reports in the foreign newspapers had greatly exaggerated them and the German government especially had been misinformed. There had been inevitable acts of violence, he said, but it was entirely wrong to speak of the election period as a "reign of terror."

Two persons were killed during the disorders, he added, and both were Poles.

ILLNESS HALTS GARRETT CASE

her frequently and Miss Hatch, on her left, appeared to be concerned over her condition.

An hour after opening of the session Gallagher conferred with Judge Keating and recess was declared. Mrs. Garrett retired from the room to take medicine prescribed to be taken at a regular hour.

She returned to the courtroom after a few minutes, however, and the trial again went on.

There were frequent conferences between her and Garrett and Gallagher and Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for the raider. Following one of these, while Mrs. Garrett was leaning against the cage, both Gallagher and Callahan conferred with Judge Keating and the second recess was declared.

TRIAL SUSPENDED

After several conferences between counsel, during which Mrs. Garrett's condition was discussed, the trial was finally halted until tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Garrett was under the care of two nurses, Mrs. Katherine Joyce and Mrs. Mary Martin of the courthouse staff.

Judge Keating, after the conference, told the jury: "I understand from counsel that one of the female defendants is suffering a very serious cold. It would be only with great distress that she could remain in the courtroom.

"The trial, therefore, is postponed until tomorrow morning, and I will again remind you to discuss the case with no one during this suspension."

Frank W. Fuller of the Rockland National Bank, a witness at yesterday's session, was on the stand when the second recess interrupted the trial. He testified under cross-examination that in his opinion the signatures on deposit slips in the account of Florence H. Reddin were not in the same handwriting that appeared on the signature card.

There had been two previous witnesses, both of whom were also on the stand yesterday.

Delphin Young, assistant treasurer of the Brookline Trust Co., was cross-examined by Gallagher and produced a check which was admitted in evidence.

CHECK FOR $700

This was for $700 drawn on Feb. 10, 1927, against the savings account of Florence H. Garrett for transfer to the Florence H. Garrett commercial account.

The commercial account at that time was at a low ebb.

It was also brought out that of a $1513 deposit on March 5, 1928, to the account, $1498 was a transfer from an account in another bank.

Seth Sprague, assistant treasurer of the Hingham Trust Company, testified that at no time did the checking account of Florence H. Reddin, introduced in evidence yesterday, have an average monthly balance of more than $300 to warrant the payment of interest. This account had total deposit of about $14,000.

Mrs. Bayer, Widow of Silk King, Weds in London

London, Jan. 21 (AP)—Count Antolus Sala was married today at the Notre Dame de France Church to Mrs. Laura Stanton Bayer, widow of E. Kayser Bayer, late New York silk merchant, who died in 1928. She is reputed to be worth $100,000,000.

Count Sala

Neither bride nor bridegroom was attended. The bride's age was given as 47 and that of the count, a bachelor, as 54.

There were 25 guests, including the French ambassador, Fleuriau, Lady Patricia Moore, Baron Lejune and the Marquis and Marchioness Readfort. The couple spend a short honeymoon in southern France.

Three Americans Win Freedom in Paris Courts

Paris, Jan. 21 (INS)—Three divorces involving Americans were granted in Paris courts today.

Mrs. Livingston

Decrees were obtained by Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, the former Joan Allen, married at Pelham Manor in New York on Sept. 9, 1919; Mrs. Arthur Watkins Boulter, formerly Elvira Sakakin, married in New York, Nov. 1, 1923; and Mrs. Paul Duparque, formerly Jeanne Mathieu, married in Brooklyn April 8, 1913.

All charged desertion.

The number of divorces granted here has diminished considerably during recent months.

Gouverneur Morris Burned as Gas Tank Flares

Monterey, Cal., Jan. 21 (AP)—Gouverneur Morris, author, was in a hospital here today suffering from burns on his right arm.

Gouverneur Morris

The writer got out of his automobile last night at Banos to make a minor repair. A spark from his cigarette dropped into the gasoline tank, causing it to flare up.

Morris, believing the burn inconsequential, continued with Mrs. Morris to Sonora, but his arm became worse. Physicians said he would be out of the hospital soon.

Wealthy Widow Called to Fight Child's Claim

New York, Jan. 21—Counsel for Mrs. Max Bamberger summoned her today from Florida to help defend a suit on behalf of fifteen-year-old Peggy Moran for a $250,000 share in the fortune of the late Joseph F. Moran.

Mrs. Max Bamberger

Mrs. Bamberger is the widow of Moran, millionaire shipbuilder. The suit against her as executrix was filed by Mrs. Evelyn Bell, who was known as Evelyn Farise in the movies.

Mrs. Bell charges Moran was the father of her daughter, Peggy Moran.

ELIHU ROOT IN SENATE PLEA FOR U. S. TO JOIN WORLD COURT

EXPLAINS HIS WORK WITH SIR CECIL

Women Fill Committee Room as Veteran Statesman Tells of "Obstacles"

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—Elihu Root, former Secretary of State and co-author with Sir Cecil Hurst of the World Court compromise protocol by which President Hoover seeks membership in the court for the United States, pleaded his cause before the Senate foreign relations committee today.

He explained that the chief obstacle was the latter half of the fifth reservation dealing with advisory opinions.

WOMEN HEAR VIEWS

"There was no difficulty among the signatories as to the first four and the first half of the fifth, having to do with publicity for advisory opinions," he stated.

The room was filled with women attending the conference on causes and cure for war. Scores were unable to gain admittance and a half dozen Capitol policemen were assigned to keep order.

Root told of the difficulties in giving the signatory powers a proper conception of the meaning of the last half of the Senate's fifth reservation. Under the this reservation the court could not give an advisory opinion on a matter in which the United States had or claimed an interest without the consent.

He said the signatories had accepted promptly the fourth reservation giving the United States the right to withdraw at any time.

TELLS OF TREATIES

"We have more than 400 treaties reserving this right," he said. "It is a common practice by nations to guard against the uncertainties of the future."

He then recited instances in the past where the United States had taken advantage of this privilege and terminated treaties by joint resolutions of Congress—notably a treaty with Russia of 1832.

"This right is to prevent controversy. This provision on the world court protocol relieved the difficulty in reaching an agreement," he said.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, wanted to know why, if the revised protocol met the Senate's reservation, that the court should render no advisory opinion in which the United States claimed an interest, provision was made for withdrawal of the United States from the court.

Mr. Root persisted that this government retained an "absolute veto" power, as provided by the Senate's reservation against the court rendering an advisory opinion on a proposition to which it claimed to have an interest.

League Delegates Denounce "War Talk"

Geneva, Jan. 21 (INS)—Representatives of 26 nations, gathered about a League of Nations Council table, denounced "irresponsible talk of an international war" which has been troubling the chancelleries of Europe.

The statesmen adopted a resolution deploring loose rumors of impending war, which they found was rocking the financial stability of the world.

The resolution was signed by M. Briand, foreign minister of France; Arthur Henderson, Dr. Curtius and Dino Grandi, who hold similar portfolios in the governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy respectively.

Heflin Plans to Fight Bankhead

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—Senator Tom Heflin revealed to the Senate this afternoon that he intends to file a contest against John H. Bankhead, who defeated him in last year's Alabama Senatorial contest.

This revelation featured sharp debate over a resolution extending the authority of the Nye campaign fund committee to impound ballot boxes. Heflin urged the authority be granted so that the ballots cast in Alabama's last election would not be destroyed.

Lambs Presented to Pope on Feast Day

Vatican City, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two little white lambs, adorned with pink ribbons and laid in flower-filled baskets, were solemnly presented to Pope Pius XI today. This custom, which dates back for centuries, is observed every year on the feast day of St. Agnes, Roman Virgin and martyr.

The lambs' wool is woven into the Pallia, or mantles, which the Pope bestows on all patriarchs and archbishops.

Morgans Give $50,000 to Red Cross Fund

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Contributions to the $10,000,000 Red Cross drouth relief fund today totaled $962,000.

Largest donations were: $50,000 from J. P. Morgan; $1000 from Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, and $1200 from Representative Ruth Pratt of New York.

American Girl's Rajah Sued for Imprisoning Indian Singer

THE FORMER NANCY MILLER of Seattle, whose marriage to the Maharajah of Indore startled the world, now sees him sued by a noted Indian singer, who accused him of imprisoning her and her daughter.

HIS LOVES have got the Maharajah of Indore in another tangle, for Mrs. Sewkalbal Pandarinath, the singer, has sued him for $70,000.

THIS WOMAN COST the Maharajah his throne. She is Mumtaz Begum, Mohammedan dancer, and they had a love affair that won international notice. Nancy Miller won him from her, however. (International Newsreel photos.)

WOMEN ACCUSE NANCY'S RAJAH

Bombay, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two new faces in the gallery of women whose life courses have crossed with that of the former Maharajah of Indore were revealed in a suit for $70,000 damages filed here against the former maharajah today.

Charges that she and her daughter were imprisoned for years in the former maharajah's palace at Indore are made by Mrs. Sewkalbal Pandarinath. Rajpurkar, widely-known Indian operatic singer.

The singer charges that Sir Tukoji Rao Holkar, who married the American girl, Miss Nancy Miller of Seattle three years ago, and whose previous love affair with the beautiful Mumtaz Begum, Mohammedan dancer, cost him his throne, not only wrongfully restrained her and her daughter but seized her furniture and other property in Bombay.

After 11 years' imprisonment she gained release upon a petition to the Viceroy of India.

Attorneys for the former maharajah, who is now living with his American wife in France, contend that the acts against the client were really carried out by Indore State, and that, therefore, the former maharajah could not be held liable.

R. I. Executor Wins Verdict for $22,982

Providence, Jan. 21—Judge A. A. Capotosto, in Superior Court today, directed a verdict of $22,981.34 in favor of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co. against Arthur A. Sherman of Scituate, R. I. The company is executor of Sherman's father's estate, appointed in 1926 when Mrs. Ella Sherman was removed for incompetency. The amount represents what Mrs. Sherman gave to her son while she served as an executrix.

O'Connor Pleads for Cargo for U. S. Ships

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—An appeal for American patronage of American ships by T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the Shipping Board, opened the fourth national conference of the Merchant Marine here today.

He pointed out that the board's aim is to place American commerce back on American bottoms. American-owned craft now transport only about 40 per cent of business of the United States.

Wars on Vice Dens Shadowed by Capone

Chicago, Jan. 21 (INS)—Existence of another department in the Al Capone organization was revealed today with the assertion of Police Capt. John Prendergast, that he is under constant chadow by Capone spotters. The shadows are called "eagles," he explained, and watch him constantly so as to be able to warn vice spots when to close.

Husband With No. 7 Had "Big" Ambition

New York, Jan. 21—The seventh Mrs. Joseph Balogh, who is seeking a separation, has told in court that during a quarrel her husband pointed to a pin cushion well stuffed, remarking:

"I'm going to have as many wives as there are pins in that cushion."

ALMA RUBENS IS VERY ILL

Hollywood, Jan. 21 (INS)—Alma Rubens, motion picture star, is critically ill, suffering from pneumonia, according to information last night from three attending physicians and her mother, Mrs. Theresa Rubens.

The actress was stricken two days ago. A heavy cold rapidly developed into pneumonia and she was placed under medical care at the home of friends here. It was planned to remove her to a hospital, but her condition was so alarming that it was decided not to make the move.

Miss Reubens has been unconscious for the past 36 hours and her doctors declared is reaching a crisis in her condition.

"We can only hope for the best," said the mother of the actress today.

Dry Officers Rule 13 Per Cent Alcohol Non-Intoxicating

Stockton, Cal., Jan. 21—San Joaquin County prohibition enforcement officers have adopted a ruling by District Attorney Guard C. Darrah holding that beverages containing a maximum of 13.3 per cent alcohol by volume are "non-intoxicating in fact."

The ruling henceforth will govern the enforcement of liquor laws in this county, officers said today. The opinion said United States courts had set 13.3 per cent by volume as the maximum amount of alcohol a beverage could contain and be non-intoxicating in fact.

Fall River Mills Reopen

Fall River, Jan. 21—Operations were resumed yesterday in the Kerr Thread Mill, which has been idle for several weeks. Nearly 800 operatives returned to work.

TWO DYING IN HOLYOKE BLAST

Holyoke, Jan. 21—Mrs. Alice Fellette, 28, of 115 Lyman st., set about cleaning her kitchen range today with gasoline. Now she is in a critical condition at House of Providence Hospital, and her 3-year-old daughter, Shirley, is given but a few hours to live.

Both were badly burned when fumes from the gasoline exploded. The clothing of mother and child caught fire and they suffered third-degree burns on face, arms and chest.

Screams of Mrs. Fellette, who is the mother of eight children, called neighbors. She was carried from the fourth-floor apartment by Frank A. Roberts, owner of the block. Deputy Fire Chief Dennis Sheehan carried out little Shirley.

Other firemen rescued the remaining seven children, the oldest 11.

Warren Bros. Get $110,778 Tax Return

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Treasury Department today advised the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of an overassessment of taxes amounting to $110,778, for Warren Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass., had been allowed.

Life Is Nothing But a Wicker and a Sham

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Mr. Wickersham is a man who must always have the last 100,000 words in an argument.

His fugitive commission is as badly divided as a salted mackerel.

Its report found that prohibition was a noble endeavor. It's all of that. And a few gallons more.

Some members are for enforcement, some for revision, some for repeal and some of the members are just some of the members.

All commissions are like the man who was chased by the grizzly.

Every few minutes they stop to get their breaths and report progress.

Enforcement and looking for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow both come under the head of wildcat banking.

The Wickersham Glee Club worked 18 long dry months on this scenario.

Mounted Police Routing 'Reds' in New York Riot

CLARK DECISION BATTLE ON IN HIGH COURT

Government Counsel Contends 18th Amendment Was Held Valid in Previous Ruling

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Clark decision holding the Eighteenth Amendment invalid was put to test today in the Supreme Court.

Oral argument on the government's prompt appeal began shortly after noon.

Chief Justice Hughes withdrew from the case, announcing he submitted a brief to the court when prohibition was before it in 1920, and thus considered himself disqualified.

HANGS ON ARTICLE 5

The decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey was based on a contention that the amendment to be valid should have been ratified by state conventions rather than by state legislatures.

Solicitor-General Thatcher, presenting the government's argument, said it seemed clear that Article 5 of the Constitution had conferred ample authority upon Congress for its determination to refer the amendment to state legislatures.

He aded the article was a mandate upon Congress and left it free to use its own judgment in determining whether the prohibition amendment should be referred to state legislatures or conventions.

HELD VALID, HE SAYS

The decision of the Supreme Court in the national prohibition cases determined the question raised by Judge Clark's decision, he continued.

In that case New Jersey raised the issues presented in the present case with the result, he said, that the Eighteenth Amendment had been held valid by the Supreme Court.

The court in plain language had supported other constitutional amendments against similar attacks, he added. In closing, he said:

"This attack against the eighteen amendment falls utterly and completely to the ground because based upon fundamental misconception of the character of the government which had been created by the Constitution."

Julius Henry Cohen next began the argument for those seeking to sustain Judge Clark's decision.

CITES FRAMERS' INTENT

He said such an important case had not been presented to the court in years and that he and the other lawyers supporting him fully believed in their cause.

Originally there was no power in the Government to prohibit or regulate the sale of liquor, he said, except by an amendment granting this power. The Eighteenth amendment, he added, was a purported grant of such new power.

Cohen quoted John Marshall, famous chief justice, and James Madison, who had an important share in the formulation of the Constitution, as authority for the statement that such amendments as the Eighteenth must be submitted for ratification to state conventions.

Epidemic of Grip Sweeps Over Europe

London, Jan. 21—An epidemic of grip and influenza is sweeping Europe. In Germany and France the epidemic has seriously affected the telephone and postal service. At Gibraltar two British battle cruisers were placed under quarantine. In Germany three hospitals which had been closed were reopened to handle the influx of patients.

Two hundred soldiers stationed at Aldershot have taken to hospitals suffering from the ailment.

Cost of Living in Cities Drops 6 P. C.

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Cost of living in representative cities of the United States in December were estimated by the Labor Department today to have been 6.2 per cent lower than last year.

Decreases in food prices amounting to more than 7 per cent since last June are shown. House furnishings and clothing came down by about half that percentage.

JURY GETS BOW CASE TODAY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21 (INS)—Judge William C. Doran, presiding at the trial of Daisy Devoe, charged with theft of money from Clara Bow, film star, announced he, would give the case to the jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon as final arguments were resumed in the case.

Court was adjourned late yesterday after prosecutor David H. Clark, in giving the final argument for the State, branded Miss Da Voe a perjurer and extortionist and charged that she had betrayed the trust placed in her by the screen's red-headed "It" girl.

Nathan Freedman, Miss De Voe's attorney, summed up the case for the defense today.

If she is convicted after the case is submitted this afternoon, Miss Devoe faces one to ten years in prison on each of 35 counts of grand theft.

Turning to the defendant, herself, Freedman said:

"Daisy De Voe is an innocent victim of circumstances.

"She was a simple hairdresser at a motion picture studio until she was employed by Clara Bow, and thousands of dollars began flowing through her inexperienced fingers.

"The accounts became mixed up quite by accident and Daisy Devoe never had a chance to straighten them out."

Miss De Voe testified she spent nearly $50,000 for Miss Bow for income tax, mortgages and salary for Thomas Bow, the actress' father.

Before finishing her testimony Daisy denied the confession district attorney's investigators allege she made to them and branded it a fabrication.

Green Tells How to End Unemployment

Miami, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, believes placing with the masses the power to buy what labor produces and balancing consumption with production will end unemployment in America.

At a banquet last night he said:

"When dividend money and extra bonus money is converted to the payment of real wages then will we stop these recurrences of depression."

Lawmakers Back Bonus Payments

Madison, Wis., Jan. 21—Wisconsin's Senate today was on record asking Congress to pay adjusted compensation certificates held by World War veterans. Senator Bernard Gettelman pointed out that the payments to the veterans would average $700 and that cash payments now would serve the dual purpose of relieving veterans in distress and would tend to lift the depression.

Lucky 'Nine O' Diamonds' Fails Boy Held as Thief

Bereft of his detective tales and his luck, "nine o' diamonds," Sylver Linwood Jr., 15, went back disconsolate to a police cell in Lynn today to await a hearing on Feb. 14.

He was arraigned in juvenile court, charged with violation of the auto laws, police alleging he "borrowed" the car of Miss Florence Gulin of Swampscott, drove to Lynn and exchanged it for the car of Herman Dines of Beach pl.

Detective magazines were found in both cars and the boy told police he had been studying these "to see where the crooks made their mistakes." A "nine of diamonds" found in his pockets he said was a lucky piece.

After testifying today, Dines sent his witness fee, $1.60, to the boy to buy extra food, and young Linwood expressed sorrow for having taken his automobile.

The boy sometimes lives with his father in South Boston, and sometimes with his mother in Wareham, he told the police.

Question Is Can Dogs Be Taught to Speak English?

Editor Boston American:

Can dogs be taught to speak English? Dogs bark in different ways to express different things. Dogs understand many things, though they have not the power to utter a single word.

A friend of mine had a Skye terrier that could say a few words by his bark, but upon getting older he dropped the antics of trying to speak.

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, thought that dogs could be taught to speak, and that suggests the incident that the papers have been carrying of a speaking dog up in Vermont.

Veteran Thinks It Time to Get Cash Bonus

Editor Boston American:

Why not cash for Vets?

When I came out of the service in 1919 I walked around for eight weeks in uniform of the United States Army and I couldn't get my old job back that I had before I went into the service. I figured that through the uniform of the army I could get a job.

I was married, and I certainly spent plenty that I did not have, but the fellows that were not in the service held the jobs in preference.

I was disabled at the time, but I tried to get a claim of disability, but I gave up on account of so much red tape that I could not wait in line day in and day out at the Veterans' Bureau.

But during last July I tried again and I finally got a 25 per cent disability. I have lost plenty of time during the last ten years and I think that the first act that the government could do is stop swaying back and forth and give the Vets the Cash Bonus. I haven't come across any Vet that is against the Bonus.

Girl Disgusted With Clara Bow Trial

Editor Boston American:

I am a young girl 18 years of age and have been a constant reader of your daily paper for many years.

I find lately in a time of such depression a large space given to such unworthy publicity as Clara Bow's love letters.

I am quite disgusted to think of the unnecessary money being spent on trials and people going without food and clothing. I think this space might be used for a more helpful and educational cause.

Bobby Burns' Poems Are Praised Anew

Editor Boston American:

Every one that is human should be interested in observing the 172nd anniversary of the birth of "Bobbie" Burns on January 25. Bobbie was an human. His poetry has the human touch. Because it has this, it will live. The Boston Caledonia Club will keep his memory green. There is no doubt of that and in Boston they have done much to popularize the reading of Burns' poems.

There is much poetry that is put forth today that is peculiarly dry. It evokes no sentiments. But Bobbie Burns touched the chords of the heart. You can read him and never tire, he had faults, he covered them by making others happy for he had some wholesome views of life.

Urges Veterans to Force Action on Bonus Bill

Editor Boston American:

Now is the time for the veteran to write to his congressman asking that he stand with the veterans in their endeavor to procure the passage of the Patman bill, which will make it possible for the veteran to collect his adjustment of wages for war service. Other government employes collected their adjustment years ago. In fact, so has everyone but the veteran.

Every effort is going to be exercised by the opposition to stop the passage of this bill and, unfortunately, some of the ex-service veterans with policies of small value, and veterans who have been more fortunate, through in-

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the persistent cough, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Make obtaining an education easy. Everyone has to be educated in modern times to meet responsibilities. The Cambridge school committee, in asking a college education for boys and girls free at Harvard University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Radcliffe College are asking what can be given without any great financial loss.

If it is only the favored few who can get education at the above educational institutions as it does seem at times the policy of changing this impression has now an opportunity.

We hope that tuition will be given free to the boys and girls of Cambridge who are seeking higher education from the above institutions. Many parents are sacrificing themselves in Cambridge to give their children an education. They want them to be somebody in the world.

Help these parents or guardians by this practical way of opening Cambridge educational institutions for free tuition to boys and girls.

heritance or otherwise, are going to forget that they are classed as veterans and expected to help their buddies. They either forget easy or they are not considerate of the sufferings from hunger and want of many veterans and their families through no fault of their own.

Efforts will be made to compromise by giving a part of the face value. Personally, I believe that such a compromise would be void of any good. The veteran is need has made loans to the limits, while the employed and wealthy veterans have the full amount on their certificate. Should a compromise be made, paying 50 per cent of the face value, the one most in need would receive only 25 per cent of the face value, while Mr. "Welloff" would receive the full 50 per cent.

Be a real veteran and remember the faith you had in that buddie next to you every time you went "over the top" and give him that assistance now in his hour of need, as he would have given it to you in those days if needed. Real veterans, veterans who have seen service, can not forget their buddies so easily, nor will they this time. Write to your congressman today, tomorrow may be too late.

ROAD WORK FOR 300,000 MEN

By the Associated Press.

At a cost not far short of a billion dollars some 300,000 workmen will build 25,000 miles of new United States roads this year.

The cost estimate is $816,048,923, of which the federal Government will contribute $393,500,000.

Six states unable at this time to forecast any figures were Arizona, Vermont, Tennessee, Massachusetts Ohio and New Mexico. The Governor of Massachusetts has proposed a bond issue of $10,000,000.

Louisiana stood out with contemplated expenditure of $75,000,000 and employment of approximately 12,000 men.

Pennsylvania was second in planned expenditure of $60,000,000, but leading contributor to employment by use of 50,000 workmen.

In New England Maine will spend $13,416,000 for 588 miles supplying 15,000 workmen, New Hampshire will spend $6,000,000 for 140 miles, employing 8000 workmen and Rhode Island $3,000,000 for 64 miles, giving work to 800 men.

SICKNESS HALTS RENO DIVORCE

Efforts of Mrs. Marjorie Clarke of Newtonville to obtain a Reno divorce from her architect husband were abandoned, at least temporarily, today when she was reported en route back to her home.

She arrived in Reno several days ago after hitch-hiking from Detroit for lack of railroad fare. A telegram came from her daughter, Barbara, aged 11, who lives with the father, G. Maurice Clarke, in Newtonville, notifying her that her whole family was ill and pleading with her to come back at once.

TWO KAUFMAN RECEIVERS NAMED

Isidor Fox of Brookline and Albert H. Wechsler of Jamaica Plain were named receivers of the estate of Mitchell B. Kaufman, long-missing rubber company magnate, by Judge Joseph R. McCoole in Norfolk County Probate Court at Dedham today.

They are given authority to take possession of certain assets and to vote shares of stock standing in Kaufman's name in the Converse Rubber Company, of which he was president.

Nobody opposed the appointment of the two men. The proceedings leading to their appointment was instituted by friends and relatives to protect Kaufman's interests, should he be still a"ve, or those of his heirs-at-law, if he is dead.

Kaufman, a wealthy bachelor, disappeared while on a hunting trip in Maine on November 5 and intensive search for weeks failed to reveal any definite trace of him.

Fox is a Boston lawyer, partner of Myer Orlov, who was one of the hunting party of which Kaufman was a member. Wechsler is a brother-in-law of Kaufman.

BILL ASKS FOR $866,000,000 FOR VETERANS

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The vast sum of $1,052,568,000 for the activities of a score of government agencies was proposed today in the annual independent offices supply bill for the next fiscal year, reported to the House by its appropriations committee.

The measure carried an increase of $246,790,000 over current expenses. Consolidated veterans' activities under the veterans' administration drew $866,012,000, exceeding this year's outlay by $108,286,000.

As its last installment of its $500,000,000 revolving loan fund, the Farm Board received $100,000,000. The Shipping Board was given $35,000,000 to be loaned under the Jones-White Merchant Marine construction act.

The executive office, including President Hoover's salary of $75,000, was awarded $332,380.

The new power commission was given $250,000. The trade commission received $1,761,000, an increase of $181,000 to permit continued study of power companies.

Under the huge veterans' appropriations, $110,228,000, an increase of $18,578,000, was allowed administration, medical, hospital and domiciliary services. Military and naval compensation was increased by $71,298,000 to $267,327,000, and army and navy pensions by $9,500,000 to $222,000,000, both under new laws enacted last spring.

An allotment of $121,500,000 was made for military and naval insurance, an increase of $1,500,000, while $11,350,000, an increase of $9,350,000 was set aside to permit the Veterans Bureau to accelerate its hospital construction program.

PERIL IN BONUS, SAYS MELLON

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Secretary Mellon today reported to the House Ways and Means Committee enactment of the Garner Bill to pay cash on veterans' compensation certificates would seriously affect national finance and "our general economic situation."

The Secretary did not specially disapprove the measure but stressed the problems he said it would present.

Shortly before his letter was received, several hundred Legionnaires from Baltimore and other communities near Washington marched to the capitol in a demonstration urging legislation to permit cashing of the certificates.

Mellon said the Garner measure would "have far-reaching consequences, not only in its practical destruction of the endowment insurance plan, but in its effect on the finances of the nation and our general economic situation."

He said the bill had been estimated by veterans administrator Hines to involve an outlay of $2,000,000,000, and added:

"I think it will be conceded that the two billion dollars more or less, cannot be raised by taxes."

FIRE SHUT FROM 300 AT SHOW

Unbeknown to more than 300 patrons attending the afternoon performance of a motion picture theater in Lynn, fire today destroyed an adjoining meat store.

When the blaze was discovered in the Lynn Pork Store, 171 Union st., Al Lashway, manager of the theater, sensing the danger of an alarm, ordered all of the fireproof doors shut. Although the smoke filled the lobby, it failed to penetrate to the auditorium.

The blaze, which caused damage estimated at $3000, was discovered in the basement of the meat store by William H. Allison, the proprietor. The flames spread quickly and Allison and his wife fled after taking the day's receipts.

Traffic in Union st. was tied up for more than 20 minutes while firemen fought the blaze, which also caused damage to the basement of the U. S. Mail Co. and the Sanitary doughnut shop.

"Men may neglect wives who are Beauties"

but never wives who understand charm" says DOROTHY DIX

"NEGLECTED WIVES! My mail bursts with their sad stories.

"Yet every one of you was once an adored young bride. Holding the key to a man's heart in your hands.

"What pains you took then to be dainty and feminine. Your lovely trousseau things—colorful, lacy negligées and lingerie—all built up your faith in yourself.

"They made you FEEL charming. Feminine. And when you feel charming you ARE!

"The magic of charm! Men can grow tired of beauty, neglect it, but the silken threads of charm hold forever.

"Believe me when I say these 2 rules of charm are as important to WIVES as to brides—

Rules of Charm

1. Choose lovely, colorful lingerie. 2. Never let it become faded and drab.

"Not impossible rules! Dainty, lacy lingerie is not extravagant if you wash it in Lux, for Lux keeps it new so much longer than ordinary 'good' soaps do.

"Lux never fades delicate colors. Lux never robs a garment of softness and sheen. It's a wonderful soap and it's one of the great aids to exquisite feminine charm!

"REMEMBER, too, that your HOME should express and emphasize your charm to your husband. Here also Lux is essential in keeping colorful curtains, slip covers, linens freshly lovely!"

DOROTHY DIX

"You FEEL charming when lingerie and negligées are colorful and exquisite. And when you feel so, you ARE."

ITALY IN NAVAL RACE WITH FRANCE

Paris, Jan. 21 (AP)—The French-Italian naval construction truce, agreed on last year when the two countries failed to adhere to the principal sections of the London naval treaty, was said in authoritative circles today to have come to an end.

Rome dispatches said from now on Italy was prepared, independent of its normal construction, to build gun for gun with France. Work is to be started on the suspended 1929 program of 22 submarines and seven other units, with keels to be laid in a few months.

Both here and in Rome there seemed to be no hope today for resumption of pour parlers in Geneva which would find a solution of the differences between the two countries and allow their adherence to the London naval treaty limitation sections.

Italy's contention has been for naval parity with France. France, professedly willing to grant parity in the Mediterranean, has claimed the right to build 150,000 naval tons to offset the projected German fleet and another 100,000 tons to keep up her communications with the colonies.

Banker Says Slump Has Run Its Course

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Percy H. Johnston, president of the Chemical Bank, foresees "a return to sounder and more old-fashioned principles where wealth is created by work and not by marking up values over night."

Mr. Johnson today said he shared the opinion of "many thoughtful people who believe the present depression has about run its course."

Brothers Pleads Not Guilty in Slaying

Chicago, Jan. 21 (INS)—Accused of the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Leo V. Brothers entered a plea of "not guilty" on his arraignment here today.

Prosecutor Charles F. Rathbun announced that probably tomorrow he would demand an immediate trial.

Abbot Discovers Secret of Weather Prediction

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—A remarkable scientific discovery, which may make possible forecasting weather for seasons—possibly years—in advance, has been made by Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution, he revealed in hearings of the House appropriation committee, made public today.

The condition of the sun is the secret, Dr. Abbot said in discussing continuance of appropriations for the observatory.

Dr. Abbot said:

"I fully believe that within a short time the forecasting of weather, by knowledge of the condition of the sun, will be done not only a day or a few days in advance, but weeks, possibly months, possibly years."

The discovery is new. Dr. Abbot began work on the theory 35 years ago.

Years of study of the sun has convinced him there are periodical changes in the sun—and these changes are followed by certain kinds of weather, Dr. Abbot explained.

House Approves New Building Bill

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The administration's $100,000,000 proposal to increase its public buildings program outside of the District of Columbia to $315,000,000 was approved today by the House building committee. The committee also approved the Kelly bill to authorize $15,000,000 for the purchase or construction of buildings in connection with existing federal buildings.

LOVE FOR CLERK JAILS GIRL

Stamford, Ct., Jan. 21 (AP)—Miss Barbara Graesser, 23, daughter of a wealthy Bridgeport manufacturer, was held in Hartford Retreat today on an order growing out of her insistence on marrying a grocer's clerk.

Meanwhile the clerk, Michael Wallet, 19, has lost his job.

Commitment of the girl for 20 days was ordered on recommendation of a specialist called by her mother and step-father.

Wallet, when asked if he intended to marry her on her release, replied:

"Do I look like the marrying kind? Take it easy, kid, I got another age waiting for me."

Miss Graesser's answer to all arguments was:

"Love is stronger than money and I won't give him up."

CHAMBERLIN IN RECORD HOP

Hartford, Jan. 21 (AP)—Clarence Chamberlain, noted transatlantic flier, flew to Brainard Field in this city today, from Newark Metropolitan Airport, in an elapsed time of 32½ minutes.

This is said to be a record from the Newark airport.

Farm Board Faces Loss of $70,000,000

Washington, Jan. 21 (INS)—The Federal Farm Board would lose about $70,000,000 on wheat and cotton if it were forced to liquidate today, Chairman Alexander Legge estimated to the House appropriations committee.

Farmers of the country, Legge said, are profiting about $3,000,000 a week because of the policies of the board.

Gen. Cole Recovered From Grip Attack

Gen. Charles H. Cole, confined for several days to his Gloucester st. home with an attack of the grip, was today reported as almost completely recovered. He expects to be able to go outdoors early next week.

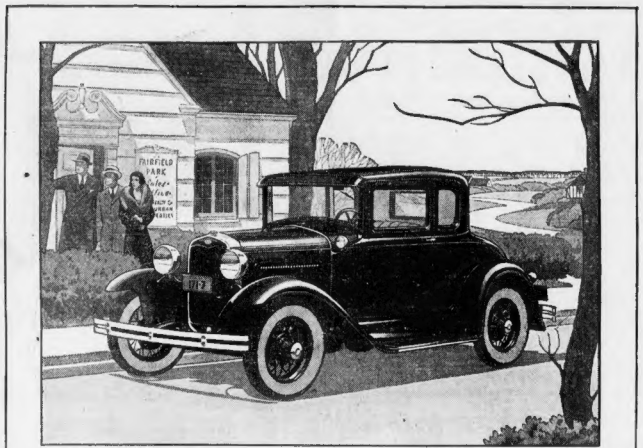
The Unseen Value That Makes The New Ford a Fine Car

Large number of ball and roller bearings reduces friction and wear and gives greater reliability and economy



THE NEW FORD DE LUXE COUPE

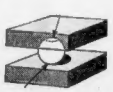
The De Luxe Coupe is a striking example of the rich finish of the new Ford cars. Attractive colors give added charm to its grace of line and contour. For upholstery you may choose luxurious mohair or Bedford cord. Here, at a low price, is everything you want or need in a motor car — distinctive beauty, safety, comfort, speed, power, ease of control, reliability, economy and long life. Ask your Ford dealer for a demonstration.

YOU step into the new Ford, press your foot on the starter and away you go. Smoothly, evenly, it carries you along your way, for many thousands of miles each year. You have no fear of mechanical trouble and you accept its good performance as a matter of course. You have confidence that it will serve you faithfully and well under all conditions.

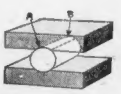
Though you may never lift the hood of your car, it is interesting to know some of the reasons for the reliability of the Ford and its economy of operation and up-keep. The extensive use of ball and roller bearings is an example of the quality that has been built into it.

These ball and roller bearings—and there are more than twenty of them in the new Ford—allow moving parts to run smoothly and freely, thus reducing friction and wear to a minimum. To you as a car owner, this means smooth, quiet mechanical operation, more speed and power, increased gasoline mileage, greater durability and longer life.

The function of the ball and roller bearings of the new Ford is similar to that of the jewels in a watch. Since they are placed at every point in the chassis where they are needed to prevent friction, the new Ford may be called a full-jeweled car, in the same sense that a fine watch is full-jeweled.



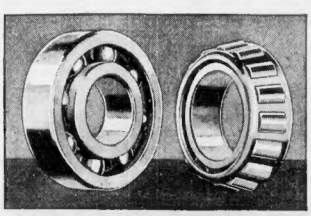
This simple illustration shows how the ball bearings in the new Ford minimize friction by reducing the contact surface between moving parts.



Roller bearings are used in the new Ford wherever a wide bearing surface is needed. The contact is along the entire line marked A and B.

As important as the number of ball and roller bearings in the new Ford is their adequate size, and the manner in which each type has been selected for the work it has to do.

Ball bearings are used where their ball-shaped construction will give the greatest smoothness and efficiency. Roller bearings are used wherever a larger bearing surface is needed to carry a heavier load. The deciding factor as to which type shall be used is what is best for the car and for Ford owners.



Examples of the type of ball and roller bearings used in the new Ford. There are more than twenty in all—an unusually large number. They play an important part in the smooth, efficient performance of the new Ford and contribute to its reliability, economy and long life.

Steering is made easier and safer in the new Ford because of the roller bearings in the front wheels, at the spindle bolts and in the steering mechanism. There are ball bearings on the clutch and ball and roller bearings in the transmission. A roller bearing on the drive shaft at the universal joint provides perfect alignment of those vital parts and prevents loss of power. Adjustments on the rear axle pinion and differential are made unnecessary by the close limits to which those roller bearings are held. The ball bearing on the generator gives greater reliability to that important part of the electrical system.

The value of the large number of ball and roller bearings in the new Ford is especially apparent after the first year. By reducing wear, they also reduce the cost of up-keep and the need of replacement parts.

In many other parts of the new Ford you find this same high quality of materials and fine craftsmanship in manufacture. The performance of the car under the severest driving conditions reflects the value that has been built into it.

ALLSTATE has consistently sold about a fourth below any other tire of comparable quality—now it sells even lower. The new reductions average 11%—some sizes are reduced 19%. And you save even more than that when you buy a pair. Raw rubber and cotton have come down. And new economies in manufacturing and distributing have been effected as a result of the fact that one out of every ten tires sold for replacement in 1930 was an ALLSTATE. So Sears passed these savings along to motorists by making the ALLSTATE a better tire than ever — and offering it for less than ever.

Skirts Go Southward With Jackets

By ANN ARDEN

AFTER SURFEITING oneself with romantic modes and such it is rather fun to contemplate such simplicities as separate skirts and jackets. Even if you are not heading Southward in a few weeks, you will be interested to know that the skirt, sweater, jacket combination is making a big bid for sports popularity. The continued rise of the sweater as a chic accompaniment for winter suits has shoved it also into the Southern scheme of smart things.

THERE IS nothing stereotype about the manner in which the skirt, sweater and jacket are tying up for Southern triumphs. The skirts, for instance, are exploiting all sorts of clever pleatings, buttonings and bellings. Nearly all of them advocate a slight flare. Flannel is very good as a fabric. A white flannel skirt, jacket and a colored sweater were much worn at Biarritz. A wrap-around lace knit jersey blouse in a color worn with a white flannel skirt buttoning down the side is exceedingly swagger.

SCHIAPARELLI, genius of knitwear design, has introduced a new sweater set that is a love. It is virtually three sweaters fashioned to fit smoothly when all three are worn together. Necklines are of varying depths so that a striking three-color effect is visible. Schiaparelli has talent, too, for combining hues!

THE COSTUME pictured combines three distinct colors in clever and interesting fashion. The wrap-around skirt has circular godets low at center front; the color is a bright dark blue. There is a sleeveless blouse in jersey, toned gold—its yoke extending over the arm tops. The knit jacket is striped gold and green, with blue buttons, a folded scarf of the blue skirt material, and narrow blue leather belt. The large sun hat in rough straw has its brim edge shaded in green and brown tones; green silk bands the crown, and crosses over front of brim.

AT THE resorts and in the early spring collections we have noticed any number of interesting new dress necklines. There is the trend toward drapery with usually a one-sided scarf effect as a finish. There are wide collar lines, softly frilled. Jabots appear again and again on frocks. And the tendency to push the neckline up close to the throat is being elaborated upon. The rolled collar and the high neckline are good.

The Children's Commission served as the topic of discussion at the first of the January series of legislative luncheons of the Massachusetts Civic League, held yesterday at the Twentieth Century Club, 3 Joy st. Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, chairman of this branch of the league's work, presided.

Theodore A. Lothrop, chairman of the commission, spoke on "The Public's Share in the Children's Commission"; Hebert C. Parsons, commissioner of probation and a member of the commission, outlined "Probation as First Aid to the Delinquent Child."

Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy, president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul, chairman of its committee on women in industry, are to be the guests of the Pittsfield League of Women Voters at its first meeting today at the Hotel Wendell, Pittsfield.

Mrs. Healy will talk on "Ten Years of the League" and Mrs. Rantoul on "Stabilizing Unemployment," introducing the "kit" her committee had recently issued for a study of this subject.

Prices Get Smaller and Smaller

For Slattery's Annual

that Starts Tomorrow (Thursday)

IT'S not only good bookkeeping, it's also good storekeeping, for us to reduce our stock on hand before we take our annual inventory. And since the time for taking this inventory comes next week, just before we balance our books at the end of our fiscal year, this week becomes the time to take the radical mark-downs by which we annually reduce our end-of-the-year inventory.

And so we are now slashing the original prices of all the odd lots, the broken lines, and the incomplete assortments in every section of our store. These Pre-Inventory mark-downs are taken without thought of cost or profit—just in order to make it profitable for our friends to help us clean house. Everything will be in readiness at 9 o'clock tomorrow for the rush of customers who never fail to respond to the opportunity of buying Slattery fashions at so much less than the regular prices.

DE LUXE BODIES FEATURE NEW FORD MODELS

De luxe body types, most of which have been introduced within the last year, feature the exhibit of Ford cars in the automobile show.

Mounted on a model A chassis, which has attained popularity for speed, power, reliability and economy of operation, these cars offer a wide range of body types that afford a new degree of comfort, luxury and beauty to the owner of a low-priced car.

As the name implies, the de luxe Fords are something out of the ordinary. From the rustless steel cowl lights to the upholstery, satin finish hardware, toggle grips, robe rails, dome lights and other refinements, they reflect the tastes of discriminating motorists.

VICTORIA IS NEWEST

Newest among the de luxe Fords is the Victoria, which is built along entirely new lines with a slanting windshield, light tan top and rear quarters, and a body which curves out and down from the belt line at the rear.

The spare wheel carried at an angle on the rear, the cowl lights and the absence of an exterior sun visor add to the effect of the car.

The individual front seats fold forward. The rear seat is wide and comfortable with an arm rest at either end. A depression in the floor of the rear compartment gives ample leg room.

Besides the Victoria, the Ford de luxe group includes the town sedan with three windows, the de luxe sedan with two windows, the convertible cabriolet, a coupe, a phaeton and a roadster.

APPEALS TO WOMEN

The closed cars are upholstered in either Bedford cord or mohair which appeal to women motorists, while the seats of the open cars are of genuine leather.

In addition to the de luxe cars the Ford Motor Co. offers a choice of standard body types which are represented in the exhibition at the show.

These include the Tudor, a coach type popular as a family car; the Fordor, a three-window sedan; the coupe the sport coupe with rumble seat, the phaeton and the roadster. There is also a station wagon with seats for eight.

OLDSMOBILE IS CAR OF BEAUTY

Beauty, strength, comfort and quietness have been built into the new 1931 Oldsmobile bodies to a remarkable degree. They form excellent examples of Fisher body craftsmanship and set a new style trend in design.

The distinctive and beautiful lines of the new Oldsmobile are at once apparent to visitors at the automobile show. Curves and streamline effects have been used artistically to give an appearance of length, lowness, speed and power.

NEW NOTE IN CARS

The radiator introduces a new note in front end design. It is deeper than the conventional type, and broad at the top with graceful curves tapering slightly toward the base. Vertical radiator shutters extend to the narrow, curved splash apron.

One-piece, full crown fenders have been designed to fully harmonize with the curves of the radiator. The effect is further enhanced by twin tie rods which curve gracefully from fender to fender. Chromium-plated headlamps with pendants are supported by the tie rods, which are connected in the center by the Oldsmobile nameplate.

A narrow molding follows the side curve lines of hood and cowl, broadening out in a slightly convex panel extending around the sides of the body. The rear end is equally distinctive. The rear window has been broadened, which adds to the fine appearance and to visibility. A new design cover over the gasoline tank with low filler cap materially improves the looks of the car from the rear.

STYLE AND COMFORT

Style and comfort are combined in the interiors of the new Oldsmobile bodies. Seats are low and wide, affording ample headroom, and a new type of spring construction insures exceptional comfort. Mohair or whipcord upholstery is optional in all closed body styles. The instrument panel is particularly attractive and includes a new clock-type speedometer and an electric gasoline gauge.

Through the use of steel reinforcements on the front pillars driving vision has been increased. Other metal braces and reinforcements have been employed throughout the body and top construction. All bolt heads are easily accessible for servicing.

Filene's Style Class Opens Night Session

Filene's Clothes Institute will give the first of a series of evening style shows for business women in the auditorium on the fifth floor of Filene's Franklin-Hawley building, at 6:45 tonight.

Every Wednesday evening with the exception of January 28, Clothes Institute will present this new feature. Tonight's topic will be presented by Miss Margaret Matson.

Railroad Ships Car for Five Fares

Privately owned automobiles may be shipped to Florida and other Southern destinations in fast freight service for five railroad ticket fares from points on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Only three tickets are necessary to cover the handling of the automobile, while the two additional tickets may be used by passengers to their destination.

Class and Comfort in Oakland Coupe

THE NEW OAKLAND EIGHT 1931 Sport Coupe, shown here, is on display at the Boston auto show where it is attracting considerable public attention. The throngs show intense interest in this model and its performances when the going is rough as well as smooth. Its apparent reliability under all conditions and the ease with which it is operated attract attention in the showroom and on the road.

LUNCHEON FOR REO DEALERS

The new Reo-Royale eight with a quarter century of Reo tradition behind it has been accepted enthusiastically by the public because it is different and it is now the most applied car in America, Arthur C. Nafe, advertising manager of the Reo Motor Car Co., told Reo motor car dealers from all parts of New England at the luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Kenmore with Dwight T. Hersey, vice-president and general manager of the Reo Motor Car Co., of New England, acting as toastmaster.

Newspapers have been of distinct value in day by day advertising, and helped put the Reo-Royale in the "big car" class, Mr. Nafe said. The present depression has been used as a convenient alibi, but there are many going ahead, he declared, with the Reo sales for November 1930 showing a 30 per cent gain over the same month last year as well as against a 40 per cent loss by teh auto industry as a whole.

Mr. Nafe emphasized the importance of good salesmen. Other speakers were Lee Mitchell of the customers' department and Samuel C. Mitchell, domestic sales manager.

GRAHAM TALKS TO DEALERS

Two hundred Graham-Paige dealers and salesmen were the guests of the Graham-Paige Company of New England at an open house yesterday held in the showrooms of the company on Commonwealth ave. Ray A. Graham, one of the three Graham brothers, secretary and treasurer of the Graham-Paige Motors Corporation, came on from the factory especially for this meeting.

He talked on the Graham 1931 line and explained at length the company program for the year.

He expressed confidence in the future and predicted an early return to normal conditions, especially in New England, where he said conditions were on a sounder basis than in any other section of the country.

Other speakers were C. H. Jennings, district representative in New York, and Charles Arnold, service manager for the Boston zone.

At noon a luncheon was served. The full line of new Graham models in a variety of new color schemes an many refinements of equipment were on display.

New License Law in Effect in N. Y.

The new license plate law, under which automobile owners retain license plates throughout the year, though they may change cars, is now in effect in New York. A fee of $1 is paid for transferring old plates to a new car.

Under the old law an automobile owner often was accused of a crime because his old license plates, transferred to a new owner, had not yet been recorded under the new name.

BUICK HAS MANY NEW FEATURES

Two startling new mechanical developments on the 1931 Buick straight eight that hold the attention of Automobile Show visitors, in addition to the powerful straight eight valve-in-head engines, are the oil temperature regulator and the Buick carburetor air intake silencer. These two features are distinctly new contributions made to the automotive industry by Buick engineers.

"During the three years the Buick straight eight engine was under development it was realized that this new motor was capable of such high speeds that to assure long life to the motor it would be necessary to evolve some method that would improve the lubricating system beyond anything previously known in standard motor construction," says P. A. Bower, Buick chief engineer.

"For many years oil coolers have been used on racing cars, but an oil temperature regulator, of the type now offered on the new Buick eight, had never been presented to the motoring public."

Intensive research evolved a very simple solution to the problem of maintaining the oil at effective lubricating temperatures. The Buick engineers installed on the new straight eight a small compact regulator that is made up of a series of cores, similar in principle to the radiator. All the cooling water from the main radiator to the engine block passes through these tubes, while the oil for the bearings passes around the tubes.

As a result the regulator acts as an oil heater in winter, warming the oil quickly to an easy flowing consistency, and in summer it functions as a cooler holding the temperature of the oil down to the temperature of the water.

Delivery Price Only One Quoted for Oakland-Pontiac

The new Oakland Eight and the new Pontiac Six are now advertised and sold at delivered prices fully equipped. Standard equipment includes five wire wheels, front and rear bumpers, extra tire, tube and tire lock. Under this new plan, which supersedes the usual price-at-factory policy, a prospective Oakland or Pontiac buyer has the advantage of knowing at the outset the total cost of the car which he is considering, according to Fred C. Sibley, New England manager of the Oakland Motor Co.

DODGE SHOWS NEW TRUCKS

The new line of motor trucks announced in September and designed to meet present-day demands for power, speed and flexibility in motor transportation, are being displayed at the auto show. The new models, known as the standard and heavy duty lines, range in capacities from 1209 to 11,175 pounds, with normal body allowance. Prices extend from $645 for the half-ton panel to $875 for the 1½-ton panel in the standard line, with chassis prices ranging from $1425 to $2695 in the heavy duty line. Standard wheelbase lengths run from 109 to 185 inches and eleven standard body types are offered.

Full-floating rear axles, and four-speed transmissions on all but the half-ton models, straight or double-drop frames, five-stage progressive rear springs and brake booster on the three-ton models; internal-expanding hydraulic four-wheel brakes; full force-feed lubrication, fuel pumps, aluminum alloy ventilated bridge-type pistons, unusually heavy frames, short turning radius and extremely powerful motors for all models are outstanding features of the new truck line.

PLYMOUTH IS FAST AND SAFE

By clearly demonstrating that it is possible to incorporate every safety feature possible to a motor car, regardless of cost, in an automobile in the lowest-price field and make it a vehicle of positive safety, Plymouth has removed one of the biggest obstacles to increasing speed on the highway of the nation, according to Plymouth officials.

A recommendation was made early the past summer by a committee on uniform traffic regulation of the national conference on street and highway safety to the parent conference, urging higher speeds.

The committee reported, "traffic statistics reveal that fatalities and injuries are diminishing as modern vehicle legislation and administration are brought into operation."

Plymouth cars have all-steel bodies, four-wheel hydraulic brakes, sturdy, rugged frames, easy steering control, a low center of gravity—all important safety features.

These features are identical with those on cars costing double and triple the cost of Plymouth.

CHEVROLET SIX MORE ROOMY AND SNAPPY

One of the seeming paradoxes of the industry is that, while the trend of prices is downward, the tendency, especially among the lower priced cars, is toward increased size, particularly in the new car bodies.

W. J. Graveson
Metropolitan sales Chief

An apt example of this trend is the new Chevrolet Six, displayed at the automobile show, where the two-inch increase in wheelbase in the 1931 models has been utilized throughout the line to lengthen and widen the Fisher bodies for the greater comfort of passengers.

What automotive ingenuity plus the skill of Fisher craftsmen was able to accomplish with that two-inch increase in wheelbase is instantly apparent from the interior of the new bodies. Rear seats of the coach and sedans now accommodate three passengers with no semblance of crowding. Leg room is greater, front seats are lower and more comfortable, and the rumble seats of the sport models are more easily accessible, with ample room for two passengers to ride in comfort.

Cushions, too, are more comfortable. Exclusive patent rights to a new type of cushion spring have just been obtained by the Fisher Body corporation, and these springs are used for the first time in an automobile in the 1931 Chevrolet. The coils, arranged in rows separated by strips of fabric, are unusually large. In the sedan, 32 coils are in the front seat and 44 coils, nine more than last year, make the rear seat unusually resilient.

The combination steel-and-hardwood bodies, the most durable known, have important changes at vital points, to make them strong, rigid, and as completely squeak-proof as human ingenuity can devise.

Roomy Chevrolet

UNUSUAL ROOMINESS AND COMFORT in the new line of 1931 Chevrolet sixes was made possible by utilizing the two-inch increase in wheelbase to increase the size of the new Fisher bodies.

SWIFT CO. BUYS 1000 FORDS

Sale of approximately one thousand Ford cars to Swift and Co., Chicago packers, was announced today. They will be delivered from time to time from several of the branches of the Ford Motor Co.

Ten or fifteen per cent of the thousand units will be de luxe delivery cars, and the remainder coupes. The cars will be painted in Swift and Company's red and yellow color scheme.

The packing firm has been a large user of Ford cars and trucks for several years.

About Spark Plugs

If the spark plugs are not adjusted properly, the motor will not pull evenly at low speeds.

PLANE DESIGN IN FRANKLIN

A study of the 1931 air-cooled Franklin models discloses many parallels with modern airplane design and construction, says P. E. Frost, Franklin Motor Car Co. of New England.

For example, the body design discloses a continuance of latest airplane practices to cut down wind resistance through effective streamlining from stern to stern. This may be taken as an indication of what to expect in future body creations in fine cars.

Presented in two groups, with ten body models in each, designated as the Transcontinent and the De Luxe, Franklin offers a wide variety for selection.

NEW CHRYSLER HAS ADDED FEATURES

By J. E. FIELDS
Vice-president Chrysler Corporation

In common with all other "big business" the automotive industry has learned something during the era of slack demand. We thought that we were doing a good job at the peak of prosperity, but we are now prepared to do a better one.

We have been forced to do a better one, because, in the current era of low prices, competitive advantages are more than ever based on ability to produce the highest values.

From the beginning, Chrysler-built products have represented high values. This, I believe, is proved by the fact that when buying fell off, we lost less than our pro rata share of sales. We were fortunate in having established value standards that would stand the close scrutiny of a "buyers' market."

PROGRESS IS NEEDED

We were not content to rest on our laurels, however. We knew that when buying was resumed the public would be more value-conscious than ever before. It would not suffice to offer values that were high by any previous standards—they must be high by newer and more exacting standards. We realized that in stay in front, we would have to make progress.

With this conviction firmly established in our minds, we set about the establishment of those higher efficiencies that would enable us to offer more automobile for less money than the industry has ever known. This result could be achieved by cutting prices and by improving quality or a combination of both. Since prices already were unprecedentedly low, obviously the largest field for our endeavors lay in bringing quality up to a new high level.

NEW ECONOMIES

Our engineers have now achieved new and better designs; fewer men have been able to do more and better work; machines have been found capable of still greater production; lost motion has been eliminated by improved factory layouts.

Thus we have achieved economies that would have been much slower to arrive had there been no industrial emergency.

NASH PROVES ECONOMY PAYS

By J. T. WILSON
(Vice President, The Nash Motors Company)

Behind the glittering array of fine cars which today is compelling the admiration and firing the imagination of thousands of automobile show visitors lies the story of true American economy.

The fact that these brilliant show cars represent an industry whose products bring something over five billion dollars a year wholesale and whose operations give direct and indirect employment to nearly five million people simply emphasizes the importance of the fundamental rules of economy which produces these modern marvels of efficiency and luxury at prices within the reach of the average American.

The stock comment heard oftenest at the show about the Nash display of the new Twin-Ignition Eight-80 Twin-Ignition Eight-90, Eight-70, and Six-80 series cars is significant of this public appreciation. It is invariably: "How can Nash do it?"

The answer to that question, although it involves practically every operation performed in the four great Nash plants and the work of thousands of men, is essentially simple. To produce these cars it was necessary to eliminate every item of waste and overhead expense possible.

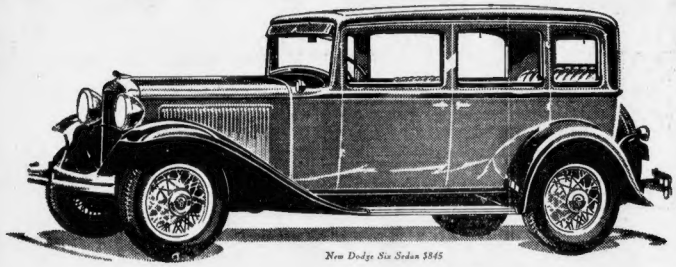
New Beauty now graces DODGE DEPENDABILITY



New Dodge Six Sedan $845

A brilliant advancement of traditional excellence

NEW BEAUTY—SPARKLING COLOR HARMONIES—EXQUISITE INTERIORS—INCREASED COMFORT—WIRE WHEELS—FINER, FASTER PERFORMANCE—MONO-PIECE STEEL BODIES—INTERNAL HYDRAULIC BRAKES—MANY OTHER REFINEMENTS

New Dodge Eight—four models priced from $1005 to $1135. All prices f. o. b. factory. Coupe . . . $1095

New Dodge Six—five models priced from $815 to $845. All prices f. o. b. factory. Coupe $815

In introducing a new Six and a new Eight of distinguished beauty, Dodge Brothers have held fast to their basic principle that the most important thing about a motor car is that it be a good motor car.

In giving the new Dodge Six and Eight greater speed and power, Dodge engineers have insisted upon factors of excellence which would insure that this speed and power should be lastingly dependable.

In achieving advanced luxury, longer wheelbases and great riding comfort, Dodge has insisted that these things must be accompanied by even greater basic strength and quality.

Much has been added to these cars in beauty, performance and overall dimensions. Nothing has been subtracted in quality. Yet these cars remain at traditional Dodge price-levels.

The result is value so apparent as to require no strenuous claims nor glowing descriptions—value that the public will be quick to call genuinely great.

WILLYS SIX HAS BOTH COMFORT AND POWER

While all the models introduced by Willys-Overland at the Boston Auto Show were widely acclaimed by the buying public on opening day, the 1931 Willys Six, which sells in the price range of a four occupied a major position in the public spotlight. This was due not alone to its unusually low base price, but also to other elements that appeal to the public, such as appearance, roominess, comfort features, quality appointments and exceptionally high performance rating, according to Herbert Fries, district manager.

It is apparent throughout the entire 1931 Willys line that the Toledo manufacturer has made a most progressive and timely move in providing new motor cars that meet the present ideas of thrift and bring in the car buyer values which heretofore were believed prohibitive. This has been accomplished by the Toledo manufacturer without sacrificing any detail of quality, material or workmanship.

Knowing that the engine already had proved its efficiency, having a power development of 65 horsepower, a high speed better than 70 miles an hour and a second gear speed of 48 miles an hour, the public seemed deeply interested in its smart body design roominess and other features which place it in a dominant position at the nation's major automobile show.

From the smartly designed radiator to the rear, the designer has given these low priced sizes an air of quality and style which would be appreciated even in cars selling in higher price classes. Touring car, roadster, coupe, club sedan and sedan, comprise the Willys Six line on the 110-inch wheelbase.

While some low priced cars have been available with safety glass in windshields only, Willys-Overland is the first manufacturer to make such a feature available in windshield and windows, all around, in this price classification.

Latest Hupmobile Addition

THIS IS THE LATEST ADDITION to the straight-eight Hupmobile. It is the five-passenger Victoria Coupe, unusually commodious in both front and rear compartments. Both front seats fold forward and the driver's seat is adjustable.

DE SOTO EIGHT HAS LONG LIFE

"Fine performance and inherent smoothness are synonymous with straight eight motors, according to L. G. Peed, general sales manager of De Soto Motor Corporation, makers of one of the lowest-priced straight eights in the world.

"The De Soto Straight Eight possesses these attributes," said Mr. Peed, "because straight eight construction lends itself particularly well to the simple force-feed lubrication system; ample long-lived bearings, definite advantages of manifolding and carburetion, easy accessibility for service and low maintenance cost.

"The smooth operation is chiefly due to the newest type of straight eight crankshaft construction. The throws of the shaft lie at 90 degrees to one another. This construction more nearly approaches in operation the smooth rotation of a flywheel, than any other shaft for the same number of cylinders or less.

"All in all, the De Soto Straight Eight presents advanced engineering features interesting in themselves, quite apart from the low price factor."

HUPP HEAD SEES BIG BUSINESS

The prediction that much of the volume business of the future in the automobile industry will come from replacement and that it will be this particular feature of new car sales that will assist in stabilizing business generally, is made in an interview at the opening of the 1931 National Automobile Show in New York by R. S. Cole, vice-president in charge of sales of the Hupp Motor Car Corp.

Mr. Cole points out that there are now more than 28,000,000 automobiles in operation on the highways of the United States. This number, he declares, will not become less but, on the contrary, will be increased in successive years.

The number of cars that will have to be replaced in 1931 will approximate 1,500,000, according to Mr. Cole. These cars will be definitely junked and in their places will be new cars. Again, says this executive, this replacement will be slightly more in 1931 than in previous years under the law of averages. With an ever-increasing replacement market, those dealers who have not over-expanded and are not increased their overhead beyond reasonable proportions, will continue to share in the future development of the industry, as will the manufacturer who conservatively operates his business, knowing full well that expansion and increased overhead must not be based on a new good year alone but on an average of general business.

Autos Increase in Japan

About 95,000 motor vehicles are now operated in Japan nearly six times as many as were in use in that country five years ago.

DON'T LET Clutch Foot SPOIL THE FUN OF DRIVING

HOW HUPMOBILE'S NEW FREE-WHEELING EMANCIPATES YOU FROM THE CLUTCH . . . PUTS NEW PLEASURE IN MOTORING

UP AND down! Brake and declutch. Shift and re-clutch! Up and down.

That's what Hupmobile has banished with its New Free-Wheeling.

You are no longer a slave to the clutch when you Free-Wheel in the New Hupmobile.

Actual tests show you use your clutch only one-third as often when Free-Wheeling, as compared to conventional driving.

You have to use it only to start or back up. Shifting from second to high or high to second . . . is accomplished entirely by a flick of the finger.

Yet that is but a beginning of Free-Wheeling. Motor drag and vibration are gone. Tenseness has disappeared. You breeze down straightaways, motor idling, foot off the accelerator, traveling on momentum which holds the drag of the motor's compression.

Free-Wheeling is the nearest thing to flying on wheels. You travel 10 miles—and your motor works but eight. You save, save, save, in gas, oil, tires.

Free-Wheeling is no mere addition to the New Hupmobiles. It is a new principle around which the whole car is built. It is a new driving sensation, a new feeling of freedom that puts the Free-Wheeling Hupmobile far ahead of conventional cars.

THOUSANDS OF MOTORISTS SAY: "it's extra IN EVERYTHING BUT PRICE"

extra quality in every essential ... no extra cost

WE KNEW when we first brought out ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH that it was the finest motor fuel on the market . . . unequaled by any competitive product out of the scores examined in our laboratories. But we have been genuinely surprised at the number of unsolicited letters from motorists who have proved this superiority for themselves—in their own cars. A gasoline that wins the kind of praise ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH has been getting, must be good!

Here are some excerpts:

"I put ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH to every conceivable test . . . thoroughly convinced it is far superior to any fuel I have ever used."

"The car seemed as though it had a few cylinders added to it. It always did have a wonderful getaway, but it never had the power it has now."

"The first regular-gasoline priced fuel I've ever seen that would give 100 per cent performance and not 'ping' under any kind of pull."

"I never would have believed any new product could cause so much interest."

"Finest fuel I've ever had in my truck."

"Just returned from a gunning trip covering more than 300 miles over the mountains. My car performed better than at any time since I've had it."

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH seems better because it is deliberately made better. First we developed in our laboratory a scientific formula for the very best gasoline for the modern automobile engine. Then we set out to achieve that formula. Only the choicest crudes carefully selected from the world's oil-fields are used. Improved refining processes contribute greatly. New methods of testing insure unvarying quality.

The result is a gasoline that has more power, flashing pick-up, instant-starting qualities, and true economy built into it than any motor fuel you've ever known. You will notice the difference with your very first tankful. Get that tankful today. The chances are you'll feel like writing us: "I agree! It's extra in everything but price."

THE MYSTERY OF GERALDINE

By ANTHONY ABBOT

Dr. Maskell Tells Colt About the Last Time He Saw Geraldine

"GERALDINE helped me get ready to deliver the Christmas presents and then left the office," said Dr. Maskell.

How Story Started

Doctor, vanished from her Morningside Heights apartment in

Betty Canfield, reported her disappearance to police three days after Christmas and appealed directly to Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt for aid. He starts the police on the trail and goes himself to the apartment to search and question Betty. Torn letter of Geraldine's found in her desk interests Colt.

Now Go On With Story.

CHAPTER 5

Dr. Maskell

I ADMITTED the janitor a sleepy Lithuanian in a ragged shirt. Standing in front of the commissioner his whole body sagged, as if he were sitting on an invisible stool.

"Is today's waste paper still down to the cellar?" asked the Commissioner.

"Tomorrow morning they will take it away," declared the janitor decisively.

"Then it's still here" cried Thatcher Colt to me with a sigh of triumph. "Tony, I ordered Sergeant Burke to report to me at my car in front of this house. He ought to be down there now. Show Burke this scrap of torn note, and tell him to go through all the waste paper in the cellar. If it takes a week until he finds the rest of the pieces."

With a single electric bulb burning, I left Detective Sergeant Burke seated on a stool in front of two immense bales of waste paper gathered from 12 floors of apartments in the Esplanade. Knowing that this would be at least, an all night job, I started back to the apartment on the fourth floor. But I never got there, for I found Thatcher Colt impatiently waiting for me in the lobby. As we hastened out to the sidewalk, I told him that Burke had started on his task. Before we could say more, we were at the Commissioner's car and Neil McAdam saluted and announced he had something of interest to impart. Neil's actual words were:

"Chief, I got some dirt for you on this Foster case."

"Well?"

"I just got it from the janitor. He was telling me that on or about 8.10 a. m. on the morning of December 24, the said Foster came and the said Canfield dame were having one big row upstairs. The janitor happened to be in the hallway and he heard it. He don't know what the said girls were fighting about, but he reports that said fight was a lallapalooza."

"Thanks, Neil. Let's go."

The Quarrel

Thatcher Colt got into the car and leaning far back he began to fill his pipe. As we started down the shelf-like street that runs along the brink of Morningside, the chief remarked:

"Now, why didn't that charming Betty tell us about that quarrel, Tony? And why didn't she tell us that she was once engaged to Geraldine's brother Bruce?"

"How did you learn that?" I asked quickly.

"From the father, while you were in the cellar. I got some crumbs from him. But he is not disposed to be communicative."

I lit a cigarette. We were passing the gaunt and immense edifice of the unfinished Cathedral of St. John the Divine. At our feet lay Manhattan, a lighted garden of brick and steel where millions of people lived. In all those millions, where was Geraldine Foster? I felt saddened inexpressibly; something which I could not single out had suddenly filled me with melancholy.

In silence we drove downtown until we reached the place of our appointment on the north side of Washington sq. The address at which we stopped was almost in the shadow of the triumphal arch which was designed by Stanford White the victim of Harry Thaw. Oddly, the position of that impressive arch, in the midst of what was once the Potter's Field of Manhattan, is on the very site of the old town gallows.

Two on Homicide Squad [illegible] rected the first floor of one of those old fashioned houses [illegible] line the north side of the park, and had made the lower floor into 1 office suite. As we approached the steps, we saw that a light was burning behind the drawn shades of the office windows.

The doctor's brass plate was fixed into the bricks beside the front door. Thatcher Colt and I were about to mount the steps when a figure suddenly appeared in the vestibule. By the light shining through the transom we saw him clearly, a little man bent forward as if slightly hunchbacked. His hands were sunk deep into his trousers pockets, his eyes were sliding obliquely, and slyly from side to side, as if he were watchful of a sudden attack. As he hesitated a moment, he muttered to himself:

Kind to Him

"Get me in talk? Never. Get me to tell? Never. Think I can remember? Never, never, never. But Geraldine was kind to me."

That last phase—"But Geraldine was kind to me"—seemed to echo in the dark air, as he rushed down the steps and fled past us without a glance. Across the street he hopped into the parked square, and vanished.

"Now, who do you suppose that was?" I asked.

"I don't know," replied my chief, "but I certainly mean to find out." And as we climbed the marble steps, he added: "He had a face like an ape and yet his eyes were not simian—they were human and demented!"

Then ringing we were promptly admitted into the hallway and found Dr. Maskell in a white linen jacket, standing at the en-

FITZGERALD ASKS $5,000,000 FOR JOBS

'We Solemnly Swear to Do Our Full Duty by the Commonwealth'

GOV. ELY — FREDERIC COOK — C. F. HURLEY — F. X. HURLEY — JOS. E. WARNER

BEFORE A GATHERING of their relatives and friends, Governor Ely today inducted into office two new state officials and two who were re-elected in November. They are Secretary of State Cook, State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, State Auditor Francis X. Hurley and Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner. They are shown taking the oath. The state treasurer and state auditor are Democrats, the first to hold state office for 16 years. (Staff photo.)

WOULD REPAY OVERTAX SUM TO CITIES, TOWNS

Former Mayor Before the Legislature Backs the Ely $1,000,000 Relief Plan

Not only should Gov. Ely's recommended $1,000,000 be appropriated for unemployment relief, but the $5,000,000 surplus in the state treasury should be turned back to municipalities, ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald told the joint ways and means committee at the State House today

[illegible]

The committee went into executive session following the hearing, and it was understood in the State House that the question of constitutionality had been raised. But that subsequently two precedents in past emergency appropriations had been found by committee members.

CITES BOSTON'S AID

In support of the $1 appropriation $1,000,000 for unemployment relief, ex-Gov. Ely's inaugural recommendation, ex-Mayor Fitzgerald reminded that Boston individually has appropriated $500,000 for relief in this city.

"Boston cannot stand this financial strain," he said, "but is willing to bear it in the emergency. The state has taken away $5,000,000 from Boston that should not have been taken, and this $1,000,000 should be returned.

"There are a great many ways that can be devised to spend this relief money properly."

Senator George Mould, chairman of the committee, broke in on Fitzgerald to suggest that the $5,000,000 surplus in the treasury was gained through inheritance taxes that could not be foreseen.

Fitzgerald came back with the statement that they can be foreseen two years by men skilled in finance, but that no one in the previous administration had managed to foresee them.

ELY PLEDGES CARE

De Wolfe C. De Wolf, secretary to Governor Ely, appeared for the Governor with a message from the ehie executive giving assurance that the appropriation would be spent wisely for relief.

"I wish to assure you," said De Wolf to the committee, "that the Governor is investigating conditions throughout the state and that he will not squander the money.

"At this time he is not prepared to say definitely what he will do on how he will spend the money, but he asks the confidence of the people in this pressing matter."

De Wolf asked that the committee act favorably on the bill

RULES BALK AID FOR JOBLESS

Many men with dependents, now unemployed, could be given immediate employment by city and town heads except for pieces [illegible] Curley's bill authorizing the governor and council to declare an employment emergency, the joint committee on civil service was told at a State House hearing today.

With Chairman Elliott H. Goodwin of the Civil Service Commission objecting to the measure, Senator Thomas H. Bilodeau, representing Mayor Curley, said that passage of the bill would afford great relief.

PLAYED FOR DELAY.

He criticized the Civil Service Commission for nearly a year's delay in acting at all on an emergency measure passed by the Legislature last April.

In reply, Commissioner Goodwin asserted that the delay was caused by strings attached to the measure by the Legislature itself.

Commissioner Goodwin declared that Mayor Curley's bill would circumvent the purpose of civil service to take employment out of politics.

Asked by Sena'r Ulin, chairman of the committee, whether veterans have preference on the present civil service lists drawn up in that sequence with dependents head the list, that exclusive of veterans with dependents come second, and that veterans without dependents follow.

OBJECT TO OLD LIST

Senator Bilodeau objected to the committee that some of the names have been on the civil service list as long as five years. It is possible, he said, for a man with but a single dependent and out of work only a month to get work, whereas a man with six or seven children and out of work several months could not get municipal or State work if not on the list.

COLD WAVE IS HEADED HERE

Another cold wave is heading toward Boston and a sharp break in the temperature is due for some time tonight or tomorrow, according to the official forecaster [illegible] Curley's bill authorizing the governor and council to declare an employment emergency, the joint committee on civil service was told at a State House hearing today.

Snow flurries were reported in Dorchester, Roxbury, Bedford and Marlboro about 3 a. m. The temperature at 8 a. m. today was 34.

Court Restrains Wife of Cattleman

The first move in the divorce suit of John W. Davis, farmer and cattleman, of Reading, against his wife, Agnes C. Davis, came today when Judge John D. McLaughlin granted a temporary injunction in favor of Davis in Middlesex Superior Civil court. This injunction on Mrs. Davis would prevent her from interfering with her husband's business

All's Well! Cardinal and Gray Are Saved for Tech

The technical technique of Tech [illegible] entered its color scheme today with the result that the cardinal and gray of Tech will remain intact.

All of which means that the official colors of Massachusetts Institute [illegible] as they are for posterity as a result of a study in the schools own sciences.

COLOR VARIATION

Many schools and colleges have started with a combination of colors that vary widely through the years owing to differing formulae that throw the shades slightly —or even greatly—off.

Five years ago, the alumni council decided the scheme could correct the condition at Tech and a committee of four set about the task.

Dr Samuel P Mullikan, professor [illegible] color, was used to study specimens, recording brightness of each shade at various wave lengths.

The formula reached makes it possible to produce the color accurately for all time, they said.

Cardinal and Gray have been Tech colors since 1874, their selection symbolizing the cardinal for red-blooded Americans and the Douglas gray for faith, stability and confidence

ELY SWEARS IN FOUR OFFICIALS

Massachusetts' "little inaugural" saw hundreds of relatives and friends of minor office holders at the State House today with Governor Ely [illegible] oath of office to four.

Frederic W. Cook, secretary of state, and Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner started another term each. Charles F. Hurley of Cambridge was inducted as treasurer and Francis X. Hurley as auditor

The two Republicans who remained in office and the two Democrats first of their party to hold the offices in 16 years were formally received into the state "cabinet."

The offices of the four, especially those of the new incumbents, were banked with flowers immediately upon his return to office. Atty-Gen. Warner re-appointed his ten assistants and they were sworn in by Gov Ely.

HURLEY THANKS HAIGIS

Treasurer Hurley issued a statement of thanks for the co-operation of his predecessor, John W. Haigis, praising him for advice on his new task.

"Today marks what is to me a very happy as well as an important event," he said.

"I would be ungrateful were I not at this moment to remember my many thousands of friends and supporters, whose votes made it possible for me to become State treasurer.

"Naturally, I am not without some misgivings upon my entrance into an office the duties of which are both numerous and exacting. Were it not for my predecessor Mr John W. Haigis it might well be appalling."

APPOINTS DEPUTY

"I want to take this opportunity to thank him for his cordial hospitality and enlightened advice which have made the transition from private life into the treasurer's office so happy."

Auditor Hurley filled the one vacancy in his office by the appointment of Daniel J. Kelly of Ipswich, Cambridge, as one of his deputies. The appointment was confirmed by the governor and his council immediately.

$50 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News-Tip Editor, at Liberty 4000.

What is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip.

If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or the most unusual event news tip received; $10 for the next best; $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips. Of course, the first one who turns in the tip in an interesting event receives the award on that particular item. Anyone who is alive and alert can win.

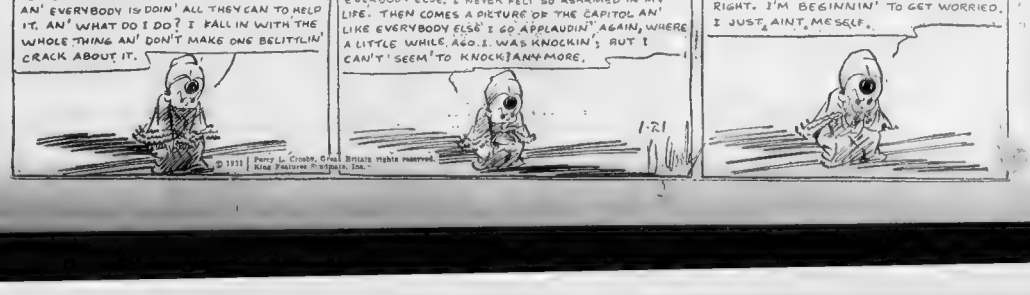
Keeping in Step

By Percy Crosby



GEE, I HAVEN'T BEEN MESELF ALL DAY. THERE'S A RUMOR AROUND THAT THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION IS GOIN' TO CLEAR UP PRETTY SOON, AN' EVERYBODY IS DOIN' ALL THEY CAN TO HELP IT, AN' WHAT DO I DO? I FALL IN WITH THE WHOLE THING AN' DON'T MAKE ONE BELITTLIN' CRACK ABOUT IT.
THEN I GO TO THE MOVIES, AN' WHEN I HEAR ROCKEFELLER GAVE A MILLION DOLLARS TO HELP THE POOR, I, LIKE A NINNY, GO AN' APPLAUD LIKE EVERBODY ELSE. I NEVER FELT SO ASHAMED IN MY LIFE. 100,000 FACE LOSS OF VOTE UNDER THEIR RATING AS 'PAUPERS

SEEK CHANGE IN LAW TO AID THEM

Acceptance of Charity May Lead to Challenges at Polls in Future

There are 100,000 persons now receiving aid from welfare organizations throughout the State who could be challenged at the polls as paupers and barred from voting, it was brought out today at a State House hearing.

The declaration was made by Richard K. Conant, commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare, before the House Committee on Constitutional Law.

WOULD DROP WORD

He was speaking in favor of a bill which would eliminate the word pauper from the Constitution. No one at the hearing opposed the bill.

Attorney Edmund A. Whitman of Cambridge made the same point when he declared that 1500 persons or 5 per cent of the voting population of that city could be chastened and disenfranchised in the heat of any election, because they are receiving aid and are listed as paupers.

"You can readily see what this would mean in the heat of an election," he told the committee. "And the same thing is true throughout the State. I think that ought not to exist in Massachusetts.

That was put in the Constitution when a money or property holding qualification for voting was necessary.

"Many people hesitate to ask aid now who need it, because of the stigma which comes from use of the word 'pauper.' It is an archaic and bygone idea and should be eliminated."

PASTOR IS HEARD.

The Rev Christopher R. Eliot of Cambridge a leader in the movement to eliminate the pauper designation from the Constitution, said:

"It seems to me altogether wrong to disenfranchise anyone from voting because that person gets aid. The situation should be cleaned up."

FIREMAN DIES IN 3-ALARM FIRE

One fireman was killed and several others were overcome by smoke which swirled through a factory building at 8-94 Pearl st., where firemen fought a three-alarm blaze last night.

The victim was Ladderman Michael A. Riley, of Allen st., West End, of Ladder 24, who was overcome by smoke in the basement of the burning building. He was dead on arrival at Haymarket Relief Hospital.

The blaze started in the basement, where machinery, packed and crated in excelsior, was stored.

Firemen worked in relays, but several were overcome. They were treated at the scene

Because of the value of nearby property and the stubbornness of the blaze, three alarms were sounded. The damage was estimated at $25,000

Officials are at a loss to explain definitely Riley's collapse, but it is believed he entered a smoke pocket" and was overcome.

Here's Sanitary Protection

that really fits, really protects

Kotex is specially designed to fit inconspicuously; and it is so soft and comfort-giving besides.

YOU know what a relief it is to feel entirely free of self-consciousness at times when sanitary protection is necessary. To feel well groomed, comfortable, at ease.

That's the feeling Kotex gives you. Kotex, with its skilful shaping; its rounded corners, its soft filler. And it is so easy to dispose of!

Why Kotex is so absorbent

It is amazingly absorbent, you know. And there is a special reason for that. You see, it is made of fold upon fold of a dainty material, and each of these delicate layers is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Kotex absorbs laterally, not in one concentrated area, but away from the surface. That is why it stays comfortable so much longer than the ordinary sanitary pad.

It may be worn on either side, with equal efficiency, with no danger of possible embarrassment from wrong adjustment.

Try Kotex yourself. Enjoy the same care scrupulous hospitals give their patients.

to buy a General Electric Radio is to insure PERMANENT satisfaction

BEFORE any feature is built into a General Electric Radio it must be proved both efficient and permanent.

This policy has given to General Electric Radio the same certainty of permanence and efficiency that is characteristic of all other General Electric products. It is your safeguard, your assurance that the outstanding performance of your General Electric Radio will maintain its supremacy for many a long day to come.

The three-fold advantages of General Electric FULL RANGE Radio are: FULL RANGE Sensitivity—bridging incredible distances, adding many new stations to your log. FULL RANGE Selectivity—banishing troublesome overlapping and bringing in but one station at a time. FULL RANGE Tone—the new and beautiful radio reception, clear as the proverbial bell, pitch-true and natural.

There is a General Electric Radio dealer near you. He will be pleased to give you a demonstration of General Electric FULL RANGE Radio performance and show you the four fine cabinets.

He will tell you of the new and unique General Electric Certified Inspection Plan that assures your set adequate attention.

300 ASK IMMEDIATE ACTION ON $1,000,000 CENTRE ST. WIDENING

NEW HIGHWAY WORK TO AID JOBLESS

Advocates of New Artery Differ on the Road Width; Priest Backs Plan

Immediate action on the proposed widening of Centre st. in Jamaica Plain and Roslindale, which will need $1,000,000, was demanded today by more than 300 persons at a hearing held by the House committee on municipal finance.

Speakers called attention to the dangers now existing on the congested thoroughfare and the aid to unemployment in immediate construction.

The committee, which sat in Gardner Auditorium of the State House to accommodate the throng, took the various bills embodying this project under consideration at the close of the hearing

DIFFER ON WIDTH

Considerable difference of opinion arose over the width of the new street, which is an important artery connecting the main Providence road with Jamaicaway and the Boston park system. Suggestions ranged from 70 to 160 feet.

There was also spirited discussion of the question of making the new road a parkway or an ordinary highway

Abuttors want it a parkway while residents of other parts of Roslindale protested that this would throw 1000 more trucks a day onto Washington st. which is already overburdened with this type of traffic

Corporation Counsel Samuel Silverman, speaking for Mayor Curley, asked that the width be left to the city, and in this he was supported by numerous speakers, including President Gaspar G. Bacon of the State Senate, who said this was a matter in which home rule should be respected.

PLEAD FOR ARBORETUM

Silverman said that present plans of the Street Commissioners call for an artery 70 and 80 feet wide, and a highway, not a parkway.

Miss Isabelle Butler, of Jamaica Plain, a cripple, pleaded for the Arnold Arboretum, asking that no land be taken from it. Centre st. skirts the arboretum for half a mile. Henry L. Shattuck, treasurer of Harvard, said he trusted Mayor Curley to have due regard for this reservation, used by the city as a public park under agreement with the owner, Harvard University.

Rev Joseph A. Quigley, acting pastor of Holy Name Parish, and several other speakers, pointed out existing dangers and asked that work be started as soon as possible. Some speakers favored a center reservation of grass, whether it is a parkway or a highway.

'Stormy Petrel' in Boston

MAJ.-GEN. BUTLER MAJ.-GEN. CONNOR

GEN. BUTLER AT LUNCHEON HERE

Maj.-Gen Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps is doing a lot of thinking about the Wickersham report, but no talking.

"If I expressed my opinion it would cause me a lot of trouble and officials in Washington a lot of trouble," he declared today at the Copley-Plaza, where he addressed the members of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts at the annual Army-Navy luncheon.

When asked if he had any intention of returning to police duties as he did several years ago when he became director of public safety in Philadelphia, the stormy petrel of the Marine Corps declared:

"Nobody wants me as a policeman. As a matter of fact, I haven't had any offers and don't expect any."

Brig.-Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, assistant chief of the Army Air Corps, flew here to attend the luncheon

SUSPECT FREED IN BAG THEFT

Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop yesterday entered a nol pros in the case against Theodore Mikulis, 27, of Tonawanda st., Dorchester, in Middlesex Criminal Court, and refused to prosecute a charge of robbery, convinced that a mistake had been made in identification.

Mikulis was arrested early in December on a charge of accosting Miss Ruth Buckman of 20 Pleasant ave. on Grandview ave., Somerville, and snatching her handbag containing $42

Dist. Atty. Bishop, in disposing of the case, pointed out that the complainant, who identified Mikulis at his place of business in Dock sq. after the crime, was not certain that the defendant was the man who robbed her.

"I base my opinion on her present uncertainty," he wrote, "but more than that on the fact that this defendant had always borne a good reputation, has never been in the criminal courts before, is an established business man in Boston and apparently successful in that business"

Boy, 7, Stabbed With Knife in Row in School Yard

Howard Levine 7, of Lowell st Waltham, is alleged to have been stabbed in the back with a jackknife today by George Cox, 7, of Dexter st., Waltham, during a quarrel at the recess period in the yard of the Bemis school on Orange st.

Dr. Richard Hinchley of Waltham was summoned and sent the boy home for treatment, although the wound was not serious. Police will take no action.

Ward Named Aide to Lt.-Gov. Youngman

Joseph S Ward, former Boston newspaperman, today was appointed secretary to Lieutenant-Governor William S. Youngman, the appointment being confirmed immediately by Governor Joseph B Ely and his council

Miss Mable F Patten and Sybil C. Olive were named his assistants and Miss Helen Delay of Bunker Hill st., Charlestown, was appointed secretary in the office of Charles F Hurley, new state treasurer

Secretary Ward's new position carries a salary of $3900 a year

DRIFTING SHIP IS RESCUED

The coast guard cutter Mojave was bound in for Halifax, N. S., today with the freighter Effingham disabled in a recent storm at sea, in tow.

The coast guard boat, in a radio to coast guard headquarters in Boston, said that she had a tow line aboard the disabled ship and was her position about 800 miles out of Halifax and 900 out of the Azores.

The Effingham's propeller shaft was broken by the heavy seas

It took the Mojave six days to cover the 1,000 miles between Boston and the Effingham In that time the freighter was driven about 100 miles to the northeast

The new fishing trawlers Newton and Brookline reported a disaster yesterday without incident when in tow of coast guard cutters today. The 200-mile tow from Georges Bank fishing grounds is expected to be completed late Friday.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a Winchester apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns

FOUR ARE HELD IN AUTO CASE

The four men arrested in Suffolk County's investigation of automobile accident insurance frauds were held for the Grand Jury today after a hearing in Municipal Court.

John Surago, 31, of Chelsea, alleged "victim," was held in bonds of $5000; Harry Barzar, Chelsea lawyer; Benjamin Batzan of Revere and Thomas M [illegible] of Medford were held in $2000 each.

According to the court complaints, the four are charged with conspiracy to steal $5750 from the American Employees Insurance Co. and Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Co. on 4, 5 cases.

DIMES TO GIVE HIM EDUCATION

"Ten cents a book, that's all they pay me.

And, gee, how they weigh me down—"

It's ten cents a book for David Way of Wollaston, 19-year-old Harvard sophomore, who hit upon an ingenious way of earning money.

Way is paying his own way through college and, always wide-awake for a new source of income, he devised a system of returning books to Widener Library for his schoolmates.

The library rules require the books back before 9 a. m. which is very inconvenient for the students, most of whom like to sleep late these winter mornings, especially as they are up all hours of the night reading for their examinations.

So Way sent out circulars to everybody in the said dormitories and distributed [illegible] Now each morning he visits all the dorms and whenever he sees a tag on a doorknob, he enters and picks up the books laid out for him.

When the library doors open there he is with a huge sack of books, while the borrowers sleep blissfully.

Way's home is 82 West Elm ave., Wollaston and he lives at 55 Matthews Hall at Harvard

N. Y. PAIR HELD IN ROBBERIES

With guns drawn four Worcester detectives boarded a New York-bound bus at Worcester today and arrested two New York gangsters, who, police say, later confessed to three robberies in Boston last night.

The men under arrest are Gerald Lee, 24, and George Van-Hoff, 27, both of New York city. Van Hoff had a revolver in his pocket. They will be brought back to Boston this morning.

Their victims are Dr. Jean E. Kenewil a dentist with offices on the second floor at 37 Tremont st.; Dr. Samuel Bernstein, a dentist at 1001 Washington st., South End, and the Hotel Arlington tailor shop

In robbing the dentists the pair used the same tactics. One of them entered the pretense of making an appointment for dental work. As the doctors arose to get appointment books the confederate entered and the pair then bound and gagged their victims before rifling their pockets. From Dr. Kenwil they took $11 and from Dr. Bernstein a gold watch and $4

According to police to whom the pair are said to have confessed they have police records in New York

To Break Up a Cold In a Jiffy

Feel Like a New Person In Just a Little While

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So they have turned back to tried principles and use what has been known one up in a jiffy. Even a little cold is too dangerous to trifle with

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well—to help Nature get rid of a cold. And it never fails. It is twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

ACIDITY
Bends More Shoulders than Age!

Many a man who is coming up fast in his line doesn't realize that he may be Acidity! When you begin to lose pep and ambition and want to put things off until tomorrow, it's a sign that acid is getting in its work. Excess acid indigestion, sluggishness, sourness and burning after meals mean: More than that it sets poisons in the intestinal tract which set up germs don't rest and make you feel always tired out and run down.

Acidity stopped correctly today by a remarkable tablet called Pyrosan. Pyrosan consists of four simple, harmless, antacid ingredients in scientifically balanced proportions which not only afford immediate relief but three of them remain for a longer time in the stomach to prevent recurring Acidity between meals. In other words Pyrosan is intended not only to give you instant comfort but permanency of results as well.

To see what a difference a modern drug can [illegible] get a package of Pyrosan tablets today from any good druggist and take but [illegible] one week as directed. If one week doesn't convince you your money will be refunded

Rum Cargo Pulled From Salem Harbor

Coast Guards were dragging Salem Harbor, off Green st., Marblehead, today in an effort to recover the remainder of a liquor cargo, dumped there early last Saturday.

One hundred sacks, each containing 12 quarts of whiskey, were recovered Monday and 50 more sacks last night. The liquor was conveyed to the United States appraisers stores in Boston by truck. The dragging began when two men escaped from a 40-foot rum runner Saturday in the harbor

Col. Henry Russell Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for Col. Henry E. Russell uncle of Mayor Russell of Cambridge, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the First Congregational Church, Mason and Garden sts., Cambridge. Burial will be in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Col. Russell was a brother of Governor William E. Russell and a member of the insurance firm of O'Brion, Russell & Co. of Boston. He died yesterday at his home, 174 Brattle st., aged 85.

1062 Auto Mishaps in Chelsea Last Year

Of 1062 persons involved in motor accidents in Chelsea during 1930, only 393 were residents of that city, which has the highest compulsory auto insurance rate in the State.

The figures were contained in today's annual report of Lieut. Cornelius P. Duggan, head of the Chelsea police traffic bureau. Six of 988 persons injured were hurt fatally. There was a total of 718 accidents. Nearly twice as many occupants of cars as pedestrians were injured.

MacLEAN TO PRODUCE MOVIE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21—No football coach in the world has commanded the attention given Knute Rockne. As far as publicity, interest and friends, he seems to be commanding the situation. Radio Pictures reckoned all this when they engaged him to lend his presence to a feature length picture.

What I mean is this, Knute Rockne, who knows his football upside down and backwards, will be the chief attraction in "Turned Out of College" and I am willing to wager that he will be getting fan letters with the rest of the stars, Dorothy Lee and Joel McCrea. That likely pair of youngsters, both of them unusually attractive, will furnish the juvenile interest, likewise John Darrow, who also has his following. Douglas MacLean is the producer. Doesn't this sound like a picture? It sure does to me, but then, I am a Knute Rockne fan.

FANNING with GEORGE UNDERWOOD

WHAT SOMETIMES HAPPENS BLHIND BOXING SCENES

THAT BIG, florid faced fellow with the fog horn voice, or mayhap the rat-eyed weazened one with the look of the weasel, who almost any fight night at Garden or Arena you will hear yelling, "Aw, the yellow dog is quittin'," is a very brave fellow when the other chap is doing the fighting. If anyone calls his bluff, it's 10 to 1 he will run like a scared chipmunk. The game ones are seldom the loud-mouthed ones. The fellows with real fighting backbone are not the ones eternally questioning someone else's courage.

Most fellows rather would be called a crook than a coward. Among the top-notchers there isn't one really yellow fighter among a thousand. Before a boxer reaches the star bout class his courage is put to the acid test many times. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred was, you think a fighter is showing the white flag if you could look in the scene you would find he wasn't.

Behind the scenes, Momus laughs and Tragedy frequently stalks.

When Jack Dempsey fought Billy Miske at Benton Harbor, how was the public to know Billy was on his last legs, suffering from an incurable malady and fighting only to get a last neat egg for his wife and children?

When Joe Barman fought for the bantam title, how many knew that doc's last week's training consisted of sitting shoeless and shaveless in a room performing the dreadful funeral rites for his dead father?

WHEN GIBBONS FOUGHT TUNNEY

WHEN TOM GIBBONS was knocked out by Gene Tunney, Tom took the count on one knee. He could have got up before the last stroke of the doleful decimal.

But Gibbons, just a "tired, heart-sick old man, gazed with lack lustre eyes at the hand of the referee, moving up and down like the finger of Fate in front of him, remained there on one knee till the last note of the ring's funeral dirge had sounded.

We might have been tempted to have called Tom Gibbons a quitter that night, if we hadn't had a peek behind the scenes.

Fighters are only human, the same as you and I.

They have the same urges that we have, the same feelings, the same loves, the same troubles and worries.

Put yourself in Tom Gibbons' place in the ring against Gene Tunney and see whether or not Gibbons could be blamed for not getting up and walking into another of Tunney's right handers.

Two days before the fight we visited Gibbons' training quarters at Stowe, Vt. We watched him punch the bag a couple of rounds and spar another two. We saw he was "off" that something was wrong with him.

Yet he told us he was "feeling great."

Newspaper men, sports friendcame in and Gibbons received them with a smile. We watched closely and saw those smiles were forced. We saw the worried look in Tom's eyes and how he started at every tinkle of the telephone. Eventually we found ourselves alone with him in his room and said:

"Tom you can't fool me. Something is wrong with you. You are worried, disheartened, discouraged. As one friend to another tell me what's the matter. You know a trusted newspaper man never violates a confidence."

TOMMY TELLS HIS TROUBLES

"GEORGE, I AM in trouble, plenty of it," confided Tom. "It's just been one thing after another, since I started training. First one of my babies took sick, very sick. Then the other. Now my wife herself has come down with the flu. The three of 'em are out there in St. Paul laying desperately ill in the hospital. How I am a thousand miles away. Could I only could go to them!"

Tom Gibbons, hardened fighting man, victor in scores of gruelling, ring battles, broke down in the room at Coney Island and, his shoulders trembling, laid his head on his arms and cried like a baby.

And so, two nights later, when we saw the tired old man, plainly at lowest ebb, nerves worn to a frazzle by trouble and worry, not quitter, completely shattered, lay there on one knee and take the count that sent him to pugilistic 2 Gr[illegible]ion, we knew Tom Gibbons was no quitter.

Fr[illegible] wasn't the right cross of Tunney that laid Tom Gibbons low. Tom [illegible] was the sledge hammer blows of Fate.

When Tom took that count he wasn't thinking of Tunney, or considering his ring future. His thoughts were miles away, miles away in a hospital ward where his wife and two children lay desperately ill.

A taxicab rushed Tom to railway station and train that took him through the night to his suffering dear ones.

So slow, friend fans, in loosening those barbs of criticism. Let those opprobrious epithets die in your throat. Things are not always what they seem in the ring. Many things can take place behind the

FOUND GLITTERING POT OF GOLD AT END OF THE TRAIL

ED DUDLEY JOHNNY GOLDEN GENE SARAZEN

MARCHING ON THE RAINBOW TRAIL are Ed Dudley, Johnny Golden and Gene Sarazen, at the end of which was a neat purse of $25,000 to be divided among the winners in the annual Agua Caliente golf open. Holding the bucket of exchequer are George Von Elm and Johnny Golden, who were tied with 293 at the end of 72 holes. They played off and Golden won. So they divided first and second prize money, $13,500 in all. Dr. P. A. Moulton, managing director of the tournament, looks on as the winners show their victory smiles. Anybody could smile with that incentive.

LOCAL FANS, BRUINS AND C. F. ADAMS HELP FINANCE B. H. C. TRIP TO POLAND

The enthusiastic and generous support of Chas. F. Adams, president of the Bruins, the Bruins hockey team and local fans have enabled the Boston Hockey Club to act as America's representative in the world's amateur hockey championships at Krynica, Poland, in February

The club had previously sent word to Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, to cancel the American entry because it had not been able to raise sufficient funds for the trip, but he was notified by telephone that arrangements had been made to finance the trip

The team is on its way to New York to sail on the Bremen for Europe. The tournament is to take place at Krynica from February 1 to 8.

Teams from many European nations, the University of Manitoba grads, representing Canada, and the Boston club are entered.

At the Garden, the spectators at the Bruins' game with Ottawa contributed the sum of $1647.28 to send the Boston Hockey Club to the international amateur hockey championships.

Before the collection, permitted and sanctioned by President Charles F. Adams of the Bruins was taken, the club had collected $1275.

That included a donation of $500 from Adams, $500 from the New England Association of the A. A. U. and $25 from George V. Brown of the Arena.

Thus the total funds for the expenses abroad reached the sum of $2025. Part of the collection was a fitting gift from the Bruins. Reservations are that the club will go in first class style.

The club will entrain at the South Station, today and will sail from New York tomorrow.

Stribling to Give Radio Talk Tonight

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 21 (AP)—Young Stribling, Georgia contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, tonight will tell radio fans of his hopes of defeating Max Schmeling.

Stribling, who meets the German next June, will be interviewed on a coast-to-coast hookup by Bill Munday, N. B. C. sports announcer, at the Atlanta Journal's broadcasting station WSB.

The Georgia fighter is to review some of his many battles in the ring and also give his views on boxing in general.

Earlier in the night Munday will introduce Bobby Jones, who is to make his second of a series of coast-to-coast broadcasts.

Tilden Planning Tour of Australia

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Australian Lawn Tennis Association has received a cable from William T. Tilden saying he is planning to tour Australia with four tennis players the latter part of this year.

'SONNY' SEEKS TITLE AGAIN

Gus Sonnenberg, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion will start a new drive for the title when he collides with Lee Wykoff, former University of St. Louis star, in a finish match, best two falls out of three, at the Arena tomorrow night under the direction of Paul Bowser.

This tussle will mark Sonnenberg's first start in the East since he lost his title to Ed George in a bout at Los Angeles. Sonny took a layoff following the George contest. Since getting back into action again he has won three matches.

Everett Marshall, latest sensation from the Pacific coast, will have Joe "Bull" Komar as an opponent in another bout. Marshall won from Pat McGill of Wakefield in his Boston bow.

Farmer George McLeod of California and McGill will collide in another bout on the Arena card.

Bowser has signed Bill Demeral of Chicago to oppose Abe Kaplan of New York, and Tony Caviana of Italy to battle Harry Mammus of Springfield in the prelim matches.

Schmeling Sails on Europa for N. Y.

Bremen, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP)—Max Schmeling, German boxer, sailed aboard the Europa today with his trainer, Max Machon, for New York.

Schmeling said he intended to go in training immediately for a series of exhibition bouts in Baltimore and 48 other American southern and southwestern cities and Havana.

"No matter how my fight with Stribling turns out," he said, "I shall come back to Germany even if I have to go out again in September to meet [illegible]ers."

He kept his departure secret and only a few of his intimates saw him off at Berlin station. Even to them he talked little except to say that he would sign a contract prepared by Jacobs and would give a good account of himself.

Yale News Denies Coaching Rumors

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 21 (AP)—Yale News, undergraduate daily today quoted officials of the Yale Athletic Association as saying that reports that Benny Friedman, former Michigan football star, had been engaged for next year's Eli coaching staff, had no basis of fact.

The Yale Haven Register yesterday reported information from unofficial sources that both Friedman and Adam Walsh had been engaged as assistants to Coach Mal Stevens. Officials of the association said no action in this direction could be taken until the next meeting of the board of control, which will not be held until late this month.

Regis College Drops Football

Denver, Jan. 21 (AP)—Regis College, a Jesuit institution, has discarded intercollegiate football.

A decision to abandon the game was reached by the athletic board of control last night. "The financial burden is too much to bear," the board said.

Norman Strader, football coach and athletic director, will be retained as supervisor of intramural sports. Loyola of Chicago, another Jesuit institution, has taken similar action.

Dempsey Would Like to Fight Primo Carnera

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

New York, Jan. 21—"If I ever fought again——"

Jack Dempsey smiled across the room at his wife, Estelle Taylor, the screen star, as he said it——

"If I ever fought again and I could pick my opponent I'd select Primo Carnera," he declared. "I always liked those big fellows."

Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey, now married six years and apparently as happy a couple as when the wedding bells rang, sat in their suite at a hotel here today and talked at length with the writer about Dempsey's glamorous past, his future, the question of whether he will ever fight again and various other matters—including the subject of how to be happy though married.

Once when Jack left the room for a minute, Miss Taylor, with all the enthusiasm of a bride, exclaimed:

Jack's a grand husband—simply grand!"

Mrs. Dempsey was asked if there was any truth in a story published recently to the effect that Dempsey was eager to box Schmeling for the title, but that she had put her foot down on the idea of him ever fighting again.

"Ridiculous," she asserted, "I would never try to tell Jack what to do. I never have tried to tell him his business. He is able to think for himself."

Dempsey was asked if the fact that he has begun training at Artie McGovern's gymnasium meant that he was getting ready for a come-back in the ring. He said no, that he was merely trying to keep in good physical shape.

The former heavyweight champion wore a light blue lounging robe. His left hand was bandaged. It seems a carbuncle broke out on one of his fingers and became infected. He doctored it off and on for an hour.

Dempsey was asked if there was any truth in a printed rumor that he had been offered $750,000 to fight Schmeling but that he had turned it down because Mrs. Dempsey was opposed to re-entering the ring.

"I have never received such an offer," he said. "And furthermore, Estelle has never objected to me fighting anybody, anytime."

I asked Dempsey how much he lost in his investment in the Ensenada gambling venture in Mexico and, with characteristic frankness, re replied:

"Not much—about $25,000."

Dempsey doesn't regard "25 grand" as a great deal, in view of all he has made, and the fact that he has been making important money for the past year as a referee. He gets as high as from $5000 and $6000 for a single appearance.

"I like refereeing because it keeps me in the fight game," said Dempsey. "I like to get around and meet my friends all over the country."

Professional Hockey War in the Offing

Chicago, Jan. 21 (INS)—This means something like war in the professional hockey world:

Tom Shaughenessy, president of the Chicago Shamrocks of the American league, reports that his club plans to challenge the National league for the Stanley Cup emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship.

He said William F. Grant, president of the newly organized league will issue the challenge early so as to give the National league ample time to complete its playoffs and compete with the new circuit before the summer season sets in.

Mack's 4 Big Stars Sign 1931 Contracts

Philadelphia, Jan. 21 (AP)—Four of the big shots with the champion Philadelphia Athletics have confided to friends they have signed playing contracts for 1931. They are Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Gordon Cochrane and Jimmy Foxx, a quartet that Connie Mack regards as the four roses of his baseball bouquet.

Lary Refuses to Sign Contract

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21 (INS)—The unsigned contract of Lyn Lary, Yankee shortstop, today was sent back to the owners for revision. Lary stated the contract called for a slight raise in salary, but that he didn't figure it was enough.

NEW . . DE SOTO VALUES

. . a new six . . a new eight

The attributes of high quality, so long associated with De Soto automobiles, are more strongly emphasized than ever before in the new Six and Eight displayed for the first time this week. Even more than their illustrious predecessors, these latest De Sotos are distinctly the quality cars of the moderate-priced field. ¶ The new De Soto Six, now offered for public inspection and trial, is ahead of its time in all qualities that are in greatest demand. It is faster, smoother and more powerful; it is handsomer in line and appointments; it is durable and economical of fuel, and it achieves additional safety through a new double-drop frame that permits it to be built exceptionally close to the road, without sacrifice of interior roominess. This lowness adds to its beauty as well as its safety — it gives the car a lithe, swanky appearance that is unapproached in any car of corresponding price. Beauty of line is also enhanced by a slender-profile radiator, a longer hood and single-bar bumpers. ¶ Bodies are of steel, welded into one solid piece, without joints or seams to squeak and rattle. ¶ The new De Soto Straight Eight, companion car to the De Soto Six, also has been improved to meet present demands. The engine now develops 77 horsepower, insuring a supply of smooth power that is more than ample for the requirements of ordinary driving, with a generous reserve for the extraordinary demands of hill climbing and high speeds. ¶ A slender-profile radiator and longer hood give it an appearance of rakish lowness. Improved spring design, together with four hydraulic shock absorbers, provide exceptionally easy riding qualities.

The many fine mechanical features that won this car instant success are retained, and the Unisteel safety body is unchanged in structure, with improvements in appearance and fittings.

Winner of Schaaf-Daniels Bout Will Meet Santa

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

VICTOR MUST HANG UP BIG SOCK

By JACK CONWAY

Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, hops off for New York at 5 p. m. tonight for his 10-round bout with Jimmy Braddock of New Jersey at the New York Garden Friday night.

Schaaf will be accompanied by Jack Sharkey, American heavyweight champion who has been schooling him in the last few days at the gym of Phil Brock, manager and Al Lang, trainer.

Jack Conway

Schaaf is in good condition for his meeting with Braddock and is confident he will come [illegible] Sharkey this morning for his 10-round meeting with Dick Daniels of Minneapolis which will be staged by the Argonne A. A. at the Arena on Monday night. Schaaf expects more opposition from Daniels than Braddock.

Daniels recently won from Al Friedman in a decision in the city. Dick is a natural right hand puncher and looks like one of the most promising of the younger generation of heavyweights.

Eddie Mack says he will match the winner of the Schaaf-Daniels bout with Jose Santa.

Heavyweights to Feature Irish-American Bouts

Heavyweights will once more feature the Saturday night amateur boxing shows of the Irish-American A. C. at the Arena. Jim Barry says six bouts have already entered the heavyweight class of the diamond belt tournament.

The big money being pulled down by the heavyweights in the pro ranks has aroused boxing enthusiasm in the heart of every simon pure who scans more than 178 pounds. They all point to the fact that only a few years ago Sharkey and Maloney were tossing their punches in amateur tournaments.

In addition to the heavyweight bouts there will also be matches at 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds and in the light heavyweight division.

Maloney-Risko Bout Set for February 6

Matchmaker Billy Amos announces that the 10-round bout between Jim Maloney of South Boston and Johnny Risko of Cleveland will be staged on February 6 at the Boston Garden.

Risko was originally billed to collide with Max Baer in New York on this date, but Baer has pulled out of the match and returned to the Pacific Coast.

The New York Athletic Commission agreed to lift Maloney's suspension for this bout in view of the fact the contest was closed before Shamus was set down in New York.

It will be Maloney's last ring appearance before he leaves for Miami Beach Fla., to battle Primo Carnera at George Carter's Miami Beach kennel track on March 3. Frank Bruen, former general manager of the New York Garden, will promote the Miami Beach show.

Rockne Lays Down Barrage on Critics of Grid Game

LOSERS CRY, SAYS COACH OF IRISH

Detroit, Jan. 21 (INS)—"The cry 'over-emphasis in football' is nothing but the wail of the losers," asserted Knute K. Rockne, football coach of the Notre Dame national champions, here.

Thus did the famous gridiron mentor dispatch his answer to all of the bickering of college professors toward America's foremost collegiate sport.

Highlights of the International News Service interview follow:

"These college professors haven't the courage of their convictions. If they had football coaches wouldn't be fired in mid-season. Why is Pat Page gone from Indiana? Why is 'Nibs' Price gone from California? Why were a half dozen coaches fired in mid-season and many more at the end of the season?

"I'll tell you why! They were fired because they didn't win. All of them were fine fellows—everyone of them. They were a splendid influence on young undergraduates. They were character builders. But they didn't win and the colleges fired them.

"Too Much Hypocrisy," Says Irish Coach

"There is too much hypocrisy in college football. For that matter, there is to much hypocrisy everywhere if we stop to think about it. But we rarely think.

"Football is a highly competitive game, and coaching football is a competitive job. When you are a college professor, you are in there for life. If the students don't learn from you, the students are dumb. But if the students don't learn football from the coaches, the coaches are dumb. If I am dumb, I am fired.

"Understand there are a lot of fine college professors, but there is also a lot of dead timber among them. There is no dead timber among football coaches, because when a coach doesn't succeed, he is no longer coach. Instead of squawking about the salaries the coaches get, they ought to raise the salaries of the professors.

Rockne Says He Earns His Salary

"I get a salary of $10,000 a year and at the risk of appearing an egotist, I'll say I think that I am worth it. I wish they would make football coaches part of the faculty. I'd like to see how it would work out. But they won't. They are forced to fire them when they don't win. Knock Rockne dead of a broken heart because they fired him in mid-season.

"Have you heard anything about over-emphasis of glee clubs or college theatricals? Those fellows are on the road sometimes for weeks. They lose more time from classes than football players. And track. Look at the track schedule of any college and figure out how much time they lose.

"What is this 'over-emphasis' then? Bunk. That's what it is. The squawk of the losers, who, because they fail, think something is wrong with the system. And squawking always shows a lack of class."

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Analysis of your individual golfing action, assuming that you have more or less difficulty making the ball behave, will reveal that the more you reduce the golf swing to a common sense, straight-line action, the more evident it becomes that the small details that cause most of the troubles are absurdly easy to conquer once you know what they are. It is easy to let your right leg absorb your weight instead of shifting your hips violently, but it is not quite so easy. I'll warn you, to conquer the nearly always present urge to wallop the old pill hard enough to take the hide off of it. After all, the thing you must ultimately teach yourself with regard to golfing common sense is that you avoid trying to hit so hard. The good shot maker never feels any desire to hit, being always concerned with smooth, free swinging. He knows that the straight line to the long ball is the even, smooth, rhythmic swing, and to get such a ball he works for more of these attributes. And that's the greatest of all the common sense policies to apply to your own golf.

MAX-STRIB GO IS AGAIN BLOCKED

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Madison Square Garden interests will have to fight to stage the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight championship battle in Chicago, Sydney Stratz, head of the Chicago Stadium Corporation, promised today.

"The Chicago Stadium wishes to serve notice on the New York Garden that if it attempts to promote a Schmeling-Stribling fight here through a subsidiary organization incorporated in Illinois, it will have a law suit on its hands," Stratz said.

Stratz and other Stadium officials said that the Madison Square Garden plan is a subterfuge to evade the Illinois law requiring [illegible] to be residents of [illegible]

Braves Rookies Look Good, According to Records

By JOE CASHMAN

The official International League batting and fielding averages have a lot of nice things to say about the rookies who have been graduated from that loop to the Braves.

They also reveal that several former Boston favorites fared well in the circuit during the last campaign.

The Tribe has three players coming up from the International. Outfielder "Red" Worthington and Shortstop Charlie Wilson, both from the champion Rochester club, and Pitcher William McAfee, from the seventh place Reading outfit.

Worthington proved one of the circuit's outstanding performers in every department of play last summer. Among the players who took part in over 100 games he was third in hitting, with a mark of .335, and second in fielding among the flychasers, with a percentage of .966.

He made 178 hits including 25 doubles, 12 triples and eight home runs, knocked in 113 runs, and fanned only 26 times.

He had 221 chances in the field and muffed only three times, to finish but seven points behind Speedy of Toronto, the league leader. He had 21 assists, which proves that his throwing arm is both strong and accurate.

A player who can turn in that kind of a season's performance in a Class AA circuit shouldn't have much trouble making the big league grade and Manager Bill McKechnie has good reason to be confident that Worthington will win a regular berth in the Tribal outfield from the start.

Wilson Also Has Good Record

Wilson's record isn't nearly as impressive but it's mighty good for an infielder who was playing his first season in such fast company.

The shortstop finished with a batting average of exactly .300 and a fielding mark of .941 for 142 games.

He made 157 safeties including 26 doubles, 18 triples and eight home runs, proving that he gave the old apple a real ride when he meets it, and he knocked in 100 runs.

He committed 38 errors in handling 419 chances, which is nothing to cheer about, but he couldn't have been very bad as no club can win a pennant without a pretty good shortstop.

McAfee's batting mark of .275 is plenty good for a pitcher and he couldn't be better in the field, boasting an average of 1.000.

Little "Doc" Gautreau, who first gained fame at Cambridge Latin and starred at Holy Cross, and with the Braves before landing in Montreal, was the class of the second-sackers in the field, with a mark of .979 for 164 games.

He made 358 assists, being the only keystone sacker in the loop to pass the 300 mark in this respect, and finished up with an eight point lead over his nearest rival, George Toporcer, formerly of the Cardinals.

And the Cambridge midget had a batting average of .295, most remarkable for a youth of his size and weight in that circuit.

Twelve of the 16 big league clubs are looking for second basemen. There are a lot poorer in the big show and none better in the minors right now than Gautreau.

Warren Cole, "Doc's" old sidekick at Cambridge Latin and Holy Cross, was second in fielding among the shortstops, finishing with a mark of .966, one point less than the leader, but he was quite weak with the stick, hitting for only .265.

Tigers and Indians Clash at Springfield

The Boston Tigers will try to consolidate their position in third place of the Canadian-American Hockey League tonight when they journey to Springfield for their fifth game against Frank Carroll's league leading Indians.

Two points or a single game ahead of the New Haven Eagles, the locals will try to increase that gap by handing the Indians their first defeat at Boston's hands this year.

Triple Tie in Billiard Tourney

Chicago, Jan. 21 (INS)—Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia and Allen Hale and Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago were in the lead today as play was resumed in the world's three cushion billiard tournament here.

Reiselt and Hall thus far have turned in the most impressive scores to threaten the reign of Johnny Layton, who was tripped up in the opening match by Frank S. Scoville of Buffalo.

Scoville himself fell victim to Reiselt.

Hennessey Refuses Pro Tennis Offer

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21 (INS)—Johnny Hennessey, former Davis Cup star, has turned down an offer of a two-year contract and $1000 a month and expenses, to go on a world-wide tennis barn-storming tour with a troup of players headed by William T. Tilden, II, it became known here today.

Hennessey was approached by Tilden at Pittsburgh, Pa., last Sunday and "propositioned" about forsaking amateur tennis, the local net star admitted today.

New York City.

Dear Sirs

As a public health officer, I cannot help but recognize the fact that your campaign to eliminate the evils resulting from promiscuous spitting and the spit-tipping method of cigar making is commendable and in line with the health work done by my own department.

I see that you call it a "Crusade of Decency". Certainly insanitary methods in cigar making are indecent. An advertising campaign like yours, which exposes such indecency and points the way to the cleansing of your industry, deserves the support of my department.

While I express no preference for your cigar over any other, I am pleased to inform you that I do endorse your campaign to show the public the advantages of avoiding insanitary practices. You are free to publish that fact or, if you wish, to publish this letter over my signature.

Very truly yours,

Carl T. Pomeroy

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Health Officer Pomeroy's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Health Officer Pomeroy writes: "...your campaign to eliminate... the spit-tipping method of cigar making is commendable."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Fine Teeth Depend on Health

—By Dr. COPELAND—

IT IS not possible to regard the teeth as structures wholly separate from the entire human organism. The condition of the whole body is reflected to the very last cell. When there is perfect health, you will find perfect teeth.

Dr. Copeland

Diet is one of the fundamental factors in the upkeep of the body. But it is not all. If we had only to eat to live, life would be simple.

Dietetic care is particularly important in the formative period—that is, during the prenatal and infant stages. A plentiful supply of milk, of the mineral bearing fruits and vegetables are the chief requirements during this time.

To be on the safe side a mother must live by the simple rules of diet and general health during pregnancy. Her baby must have the benefits of breast feeding and direct sunlight.

Of course, during the long winter months when there is little sunshine, growing children need the protective vitamins found in cod-liver oil, orange and tomato juice, along with the milk diet. These foods reinforce the bone and tooth building forces in the little bodies.

All the common rules of health must be observed if a child is to have sound teeth. If he eats candy to his heart's content, if he is permitted to sit up late at night, if he spends his days playing indoors, instead of out-of-doors in the sunshine, then good mothers, you are laying up future misfortune for your child.

From the time baby's teeth begin to appear they should be cleansed with clean gauze wet with water or salt solution. By the time the child is three years old he should have about 20 temporary teeth. Now is the time to begin visiting the dentist, for these teeth will perhaps need repairing. Let a child be the proud possessor of his own tooth-brush and dentifrice, and learn to brush his own teeth.

The teeth should be brushed after every meal. They should be brushed from the gums upward or downward, not across. In order to remove every particle of food that may collect between the teeth.

Use plenty of hard foods as well as nourishing foods. The teeth and jaws need exercising as much as do the muscles.

Have even the youngest three-year-old visit the dentist at least every six months. Let him find the cavities when they are small and when they can be taken care of painlessly. Everything that can be done to terminate the general health should be done for on it as I have said before depends sound teeth.

Answers to Health Queries

E. F. B. Q—What causes white spots on the hands?

A—This is due to loss of pigment or coloring matter.

J. L. Q—How much should a girl of 16, 5 ft. 2 ins. tall weigh?

2—Will carbolic vaseline used on the eyelashes prove harmful?

A—She should weigh about 115 pounds. When I give weight figures you will understand I am speaking about the average person. If these above you by a few pounds under or a few pounds above this weight you must not feel that fact is any particular significance. The figures, as I have said, indicate merely the average weight as discovered by the examination of a large number of persons.

2—Plain vaseline is better.

TO SEE—OR NOT TO SEE

Would She If She Could

DRAWN BY Nell Brinkley

EVERYONE has wished, looking into the mysterious, lovely light in a crystal, that some of the hidden things of the future would look out at them.

Everyone has THOUGHT they wished it—at the least. Making a halt before the delicate fascinations of an optician's show-window, this mysterious person, EVERYONE, has often seen a crystal there, like a transparent world, reposing upon a bit of rich velvet.

And ever since childhood almost everyone has felt the allure of the sparkle and light, transparent darkness and shadowed glow, like clear water struck to stone and by a wizard, of that crystal. The same allure of that other world that seems to lie beyond the looking-glass. A silent, watchful, magic world, that always calls you to come just 'round the corner! And that same everyone has thought, wouldn't it be nice IF the images of the future, of what was going to happen, could show themselves there!

And then, thinking again, everyone has thought perhaps it wouldn't be so good. Thought that if the future suddenly began to appear in the crystal, he or she would walk on the other side of the street if they should come that way again!

Does a bride want to know her future? Does she wonder? Before she is engaged she sings, "Heigh ho, when shall I marry me?" But in bridal satin and lace, mist and flowers, blinded by the sunny glitter from a gold ring, does she ask to see any pictures of what fate holds for her, for the undying fairy boy whom she has given her heart to tear?

The old-fashioned bride didn't, I think But maybe many of the present brides do, what with the wrecks of unhappy and brief marriages that strew the ocean lanes of matrimony.

What faces of herself would she see—laughing ones, or one in tears? The singing bird and the golden apple of happiness, or lost and strayed beliefs? A girl's face grown into a woman's, of course—but will it be marred by cynicism or sweetened with illusion realized? Maybe if some young brides could see the play of the future put on for their eyes even they would take off the veil and fold it away for another and better Fortune!

TIGER HEART

By Robert Terry Shannon

IT SEEMED impossible to Connie that she had ever considered linking her life with Jim Tracy. What sort of trance-like state did girls get into when they yielded to a man's desire for marriage? How it possible, Connie wondered, if thousands of others had felt the great social and personal pressure forcing them to the altar? Without doubt it was a tragedy, yet it must be that thousands, millions, had lacked the courage to turn back.

That none of this settled the question in her mind, immediately, as to what she would do about Kitty. Of one thing she was sure —today she would not see any of her friends; no disappointed bridesmaids or gossip-thrilled young matrons. All of that she would dodge; she would not even answer the telephone.

Own Bedroom

In her own bedroom, square and spacious, with its double windows overlooking the fine rolling country, she found the seclusion that enabled her to revolve over and over in her mind the problem of Kitty. This morning she had been surprised by her mother's unruffled acceptance of the broken engagement. Aged and gray, the sweetly sensitive little woman had displayed to Connie an unexpected common sense of decisiveness. Had she marred her own mother's character? In an emergency, a crisis, Mrs. Calvert had borne herself with understanding poise, instead of succumbing to what must have been a real shock. Connie thought over the past and of telling her, frankly, the whole truth about Kitty Calvert.

It was a dangerous speculation. After all, her mother might not be able, with equanimity, to sustain a second stunning revelation. The story of Kitty would stir her mother far more readily than the postponed wedding. All mothers are skeptical of their daughter's wedding—perhaps its stoppage had been the subconscious relief.

The history of Kitty, however, was fraught with questionable results. It would not be so easy for Mrs Calvert to realize that her beloved husband had deceived her about a previous marriage and had abandoned the child of that union. To tell her would be to undermine all of her faith and veneration for the dead man's memory. More, Connie's compelling altruism that made her so desirous of taking up Kitty as a real sister, might not have an equal appeal for her mother. Such a girl as Kitty would run contrary to every memory and instinct of the mother—would be a constant, eternal thorn. Yet, Connie saw no way to avoid her own self-obligated part in the matter.

Something had to be done about Kitty, and at once!

There was a possibility that she might deceive her mother; that she could lie about her friendship with Kitty and invent some fantastic tale. When she tried to devise such a protective story, her powers of invention failed her, and she realized that there was no explanation for Kitty except the truth. Her placidity prayed on Connie's mind until she felt as though she were battering a stone wall and getting nowhere. The simplest thing, of course, would be to tell her mother the whole story and take the risk of its consequences. Yet, with all her heart, Connie shrank from inflicting such pain; she was in a position of a tender-hearted surgeon, confronted with the necessity of operating without an anesthetic.

At last she made up her mind. Her mother listened to the whole dark story with a strange set look on her motherly face. What was transpiring in her heart, Connie could only guess. But she was proud of the soldierly courage that hid all wounds.

"There's only one thing to do, of course," Mrs. Calvert said. "We'll have to protect your father's memory from the public, but the girl must be taken care of. I'm afraid there is only one honorable thing to do. We must bring her into our home and give her every chance we can."

Amazingly, Connie was able quickly to readjust herself to the fact that she was not going to marry Jim Tracy. Within 24 hours she was scarcely conscious that anything unusual had happened.

"It can't be that I am completely light-hearted and fickle," she said. "No, it's just that I woke up in time to realize my true self. Poor Jim! Well, I'll always be nice to him. I think the shock of finding Kitty shook him up mentally, and brought, somehow, a new idea of life to the surface. I don't believe Jim is really hurt half as much as he makes believe."

But Jim's caress as reaction that struck her mother. Mrs. Calvert, still struggling bravely to maintain her poise, went to bed suffering from nervousness and exhaustion.

"I'm not actually ill, Connie," she said. "My strength isn't quite what it used to be. I'll be all right in a day or so."

Connie was not seriously alarmed. Still, it was hard to fight off worrying, despite her mother's courageous words. A physician came and gave the patient a bromide, advising perfect quiet and rest. Discreetly, he made no reference to Connie's broke engagement as the cause of her mother's indisposition.

"No, no, there's nothing to worry about," he said, keenly professional. "Your mother appears to be a fine, healthy, wholesome vitality. A little rest and she'll be bright as a dollar."

This heartened Connie vastly. It was only the part of a process of readjustment.

Jim called up three or four times, and she talked to him briefly. Apparently, he realized the futility of trying to haggle and adopted a friendly, patient manner. Connie was simultaneously grateful to him for not being insistent.

Her immediate necessity was to telephone Kitty, who seemed stupefied at the sound of Connie's voice but when Connie told her of the abandoned wedding, much relief swept over Kitty.

"I thought sure you'd be up in Canada by this time," Connie heard her say. "I thought you were all steamed up over marrying the boy friend."

"I'll tell you about that later," Connie said. "When can I see you?"

"Anytime you like, I guess."

The day after tomorrow, Connie decided would be satisfactory. Before she introduced Kitty into her own home she wanted to have another talk with that girl; also, she wanted her mother to get better. It was arranged that Connie would again drive down to the Tenth Ave restaurant

Used to Idea

Now that she was getting used to the fact that she possessed Kitty as a sister, the problem of responsibility. Connie began to speculate about the girl. In what sort of a place did she live, by what means did she get the money to supply her living? Those things were not pleasant to think about, it was so easy to give way to suspicions. Kitty's face, Connie reflected, had, in repose, shown surly rebellion; considering her lack of home surroundings and restraint, it was possible to imagine anything. An exaggerated sense of success piled up. Who was Dicky Garson, and what did he mean in Kitty's life, if anything? Was it reasonably possible to hope that the girl could be, at large, disassociated from her lifelong environment?

Nor did any clue to these mysteries come early when Connie sat opposite her again at a table in Joe's Place on Tenth Ave. Once more she tried to fathom Kitty by her external appearance. Beneath the line of her jet black hair the forehead was low and wide; her brows and lashes made the blue-violet eyes seem larger then they really were. It was a face that fell a little short of actual beauty. A trace of impishness was in the slight tilted nose; the mouth, with its occasional quirk at the corner, suggested, vaguely, a defiance of life and its conventions. In a crowd, Kitty would attract attention, her dress was inexpensive, but she achieved distinction as for the rest—Connie could only guess.

Boy Caught in Love Tangle

Show Parents You Have Character

—By BEATRICE FAIRFAX—

BEATRICE FAIRFAX will gladly answer questions regarding heart and home problems. Address her in care of the Boston American. Write on one side of the paper only. If you wish a personal answer enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope. Otherwise, questions of interest will be answered through her daily columns.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 16 years old, a junior in high school, and am in a distressing tangle of affairs. I am in love with a girl one year my senior and I believe Dot (that is her name) loves me, too. Her parents do not approve of her and they wish to separate us. I believe this annihilation of our ideals would be the ruination of our characters and ambitions. I hope that you will make possible a reconciliation among my parents. Dot and myself.

Beatrice Fairfax

Thanking you in advance, I remain, sincerely

BASHFUL GEORGE.

Dear George—While I realize the conflict of emotions going on in your heart, and feel that perhaps your parents have been a little unfeeling, wouldn't it be more character forming if you just made up your mind to work real hard and show these parents that you are, after all, a man of character and can be relied on your own friends? It is far better for you to bury this love in your heart for a few years and make the most of your opportunities. If your love is real no difference will two or three years make? In the meantime you will be advancing yourself to a point where you can approach the girl independently. Think it over.

Stick to Your Home

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a mother of two children, am 27 years old, and I love good times. My husband goes out and comes home any time. He doesn't care for me. There is a young fellow, 20 years old, who tells me he loves me. He wants to take me away, but I am seven years older, and am afraid for the sake of my children. Please tell me what to do.

M. A.

Dear M. A.—I'm afraid you'd only be jumping from one bad thing to a worse. Nothing could be gained by breaking up your home and putting yourself and your children in a bad light before others. Many women live out their lives with a man they do not love or who does not love them. As long as he provides a good home and supports the children, I should advise you to stick,

Beauty Box

FACES ARE always in the making. The human mask is a screen upon which the cinematograph of the mind throws its pictures and reflections. Sometimes the brain hasn't any reflections. Result the blank face. You see 'em all the time. Nice features, maybe. Bright eyes, ruby lips. Whole pitch-in-the-whole. But what of it? One look suffices and then the observer seeks out a countenance that is alight, animated, changeable, interesting. No reason why a woman should wear the same old expression day after day. Unless it is a jolly nice one.

Cabbages Cooked Fit for King—or Queen

By MARTHA LEE

From Martha Lee's Wednesday Morning Broadcast Over Station WEEI

IT'S TIME to talk cabbage and kings recipes for cooking cabbage so deliciously that it's fit for kings or queens. Not only is properly prepared cabbage good for us, but it occupies a point of economy that's mighty welcome. Here are four favorite cabbage recipes I hope you'll want to clip for your files.

Martha Lee

CABBAGE AU GRATIN

1 pint white sauce.
½ cup grated cheese
Salt and paprika
½ cup cracker crumbs
1 tbsp. melted butter

Put a layer of the cabbage coarsely chopped, into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese, paprika, and salt as need ed, and cover with a layer of white sauce. Repeat the layers until all the ingredients have been used. Cover with cracker crumbs mixed with the butter. Place in oven until hot and the crumbs are well browned.

CABBAGE PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 medium head cabbage (shredded)
1 can pineapple (diced) 1 lb.
marshmallows (quartered) cup cabbage juice
cold water

for half an hour. Drain. Add marshmallows and pineapple. Mix thoroughly with one cup boiled salad dressing and one cup whipped cream. Serve on a lettuce leaf garnished with paprika and parsley.

COLD SLAW, MAYONNAISE DRESSING

Two cups of finely shredded cabbage, ½ cup shredded green pepper, one stalk of celery finely sliced and a slight grating of onion. Mix the vegetables together in a large bowl—season with salt and a few grains of cayenne pepper and moisten with a cup of mayonnaise. Toss around with a large salad spoon and fork until the vegetables have completely absorbed the dressing. Decorate the top with a dash of paprika.

PICKLED CABBAGE

Wash cabbage and cook in boiling water with a little salt until tender. Then strain. Butter a small pie dish and cover the bottom with cabbage. Then add a layer of mayonnaise meat and the another layer of cabbage. Lay small pieces of bacon on top. Then make a white sauce, butter and bake in an oven for 20 minutes.

Faithfully yours,

POTTED HERRING
(Fresh)

THEY SHOULD be cleaned and opened flat, put in a deep dish covered with vinegar and a generous layer of bay leaves—then another herring and more vinegar and bay leaves—add hot water enough to cover and bake maybe for 3 hours. Sometimes I use a little butter and seasoning. Add more hot water as needed.

The English use ale instead of vinegar. We can't get that—the sugar added to the beer and they aren't apparent when fish is cooked. It is truly delicious with mashed potatoes and stewed prunes. Mrs. W. W. McKenzie, 67 Perkins st., Brockton

PRUNE CAKE

1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
2 eggs, beaten well
½ cup milk
1 cup drained stewed prunes, well broken
1 tsp. salt
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ground cloves
1 tsp. maple flavoring

Mix in order given, bake in 8 x 8 pan about hour in 350 deg. F. oven.

FROSTING

1 lb. box confectioners sugar
1 tbsp. butter
Cream butter to moisten well
½ tsp. vanilla.

MARY A. McGINN,
Box 31, South Bellingham.

FRIED APPLE PIE

1 cupful shortening
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. vegetable shortening
1 egg yolk
4 tbsps. sugar
½ cup milk
Sift baking powder and salt with flour. Work in shortening with finger-tips. Combine egg, sugar, milk and stir into flour mixture. Roll out on well-floured board to ⅛ inch thick. Cut into rounds about four or five inches in diameter. Spread ½ circle with stiff apple sauce, well seasoned with cinnamon and nutmeg. Moisten other half of crust, crimping edges well with fork.

Fry in deep shortening, heated to 360 degrees F. until an inch square of bread brown in 60 seconds. Drain on paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar—Mrs. E. M. Kingsbury P. O. Box 68, East Derry, N. H.

APPLE SAUCE COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup unsweetened applesauce
2 cups flour
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. salt
½ cup nuts (chopped
1 cup raisins.

Cream shortening and sugar. Dissolve soda in applesauce, add to sugar Sift in flour with spices and salt. Add nuts and raisins. Bake in a moderate oven about 15 minutes in a moderately greased pan. Mrs. W. Jervis, 21 Myrtle st., Somerville

SURPRISE LOAF

2 cups cheese relish
1 cups finely chopped raw cabbage cup chopped pimentos
lb. cream cheese
Mayonnaise

Remove crust from bread and cut in thin slices lengthwise. Place one slice on a platter and spread with mayonnaise, then cover with the cabbage and pimento, mixed with enough mayonnaise to moisten. Cover this with second slice of bread which has been spread with mayonnaise. Spread with cheese relish, softened to spreading consistency with a little cream and cover with the third slice. Mash the cream cheese, add paprika, salt and pepper to taste and thin with a little cream. Spread on the outside of the loaf as you would frost a cake. Place in refrigerator to chill thoroughly. Garnish with stuffed olives, radishes and watercress. Serve a rather thick slice to each person.—Miss Gertrude M. Buller, Nahant st., Wakefield

Household Hints

A SPOONFUL of dry mustard in a gallon of water will kill insects in the earth. This is good for all potted plants.

USE A CEMENT of ashes, salt, and water for cracks in stoves.

LINE YOUR bread jar with waxed paper, changing a couple of times a week. This absorbs all the moisture, and prevents mould.

TO TAKE OUT scorch marks when ironing, wring a cloth out of peroxide of hydrogen. Place over scorch mark and run a good warm iron over it. The mark will disappear like magic.

WHEN YOU wash your beef for a pot roast, don't throw the water away after putting it on your fire, see how much better they look for a short time.

VASELINE and powdered sulphur, made into a paste, and put on cracked fingers, will heal them quickly.

WON'T SOME ONE ANSWER?

Last year I had a wonderful cyclamen that bloomed steadily for three months, averaging about 12 blooms at all times. I've had one since Christmas from the same flower shop, that has but six blooms and buds already, and the new buds simply dry up. I'm giving it the same treatment plenty of water and sunshine in the afternoon. Can any one help?—M. M. G., Brookline.

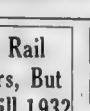
Expects Rail Mergers, But Not Till 1932

Securities Will Be Helped, States Authority; Loree Left Out

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Jan. 21.—What remains to be done before the four great Eastern railway consolidations can be completed? How long will it take? Will railway securities be benefited?



These and other similar questions are answered here:

In yesterday's column F. J. Lisman, noted investment banker and railway authority, analyzed various phases of the planned mergers. His conclusions, prepared for you, follow:

B. C. Forbes

"From the point of view of New York city particularly, the proposed development of the Greater B. & O. system is of much interest and importance because it will form a new direct line from New York to Chicago, through northern Pennsylvania, about as short as any of the lines, with a fairly low summit over the Alleghanies. It will take a considerable amount of money to coordinate this line, which consists in part of the Central R. R. of New Jersey, Reading, some leased lines in northern Pennsylvania, possibly a short piece of new line, and then into the present R. . O. main line near the Pennsylvania-Ohio State line. This line will afford very effective competition with the Pennsylvania below, a New York and Pittsburgh, Lehigh Valley, Erie and, etc., as well as to Chicago."

"The New England railroad situation is largely disregarded in this tentative line plan and left just where it is now, which means practically in the hands of the Pennsylvania Railroad and affiliated companies which own directly and indirectly a dominating interest in both the New Haven and Boston & Maine systems.

"It is not likely that the New England States may object, although the commission may possibly rule that such objection would not be relevant to the case under consideration.

"According to the reports published in the newspapers, the protrunk lines are supposed to acquire the Delaware & Hudson jointly, but as is known, Mr. Loree, the stormy petrel of the railroad world, has not given his consent to such a transaction, and the market price of D. & H. stock does not seem to indicate that there is 'anything doing.'

"To sum up, the petition for consolidation of all the railroads in the territory bounded on the south by the Mason & Dixon Line, Chicago and St. Louis on the west, Great Lakes on the north and the Hudson river and Lake Champlain on the east, into four system, has not yet been filed with the Commission.

"It will take the lawyers some weeks to do this. After that, there will come hearings before examiners; then in due time the examiners will file their reports. A date will then be set to give an opportunity to the parties affected to object to the examiner's report, and then the Commission will have a hearing on these applications. Thereafter they will discuss the situation among themselves "in conference," and after they have conciliated the natural differences of opinion they will render a decision, possible by a narrow majority, together with a dissenting minority report.

"It is quite possible—in fact, probable—that the plans as outlined in the newspapers will more or less meet finally with the approval of a majority of the commissioners, but it will certainly be surprising if such an opinion can be handed down before some time in 1932.

"If this situation should become a political football, as the opposition to President Hoover wants to make it, then the matter may be still further delayed.

"After the approval of the I. C. C. has been given, undoubtedly considerable amounts of money will be spent in co-ordinating the railroads so as to be welded into systems. This means construction of new yards, terminals, shops and additional trunk tracks here and there and a considerable number of new locomotives, etc. These aggregate expenditures will probably be substantially in excess of $100,000,000."

The value of railroad stocks throughout the financially reduced but more stabilized thereafter and the waste of unnecessary competition should be substantially reduced because there is less waste with four systems competing than there is with seven or eight.

National Biscuit Profit $22,879,898

National Biscuit Co. reports for 1930 net income of $22,879,898 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., against $21,423,571 in 1929.

BOND OR STOCK OWNERS IN U. S. 22,000,000

By FRANK R. MELDON

There seems to be no reason for amending downward the estimate that 22,000,000 citizens of the United States are owners of stocks or bonds. This is the estimate made several months ago by James A. Emery, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, speaking before the Associated Industries of Massachusetts at a Boston gathering.

James A. Emery

Since Mr. Emery's address, the number of stockholders in many corporations has been increasing very rapidly. That the best sort of buying has been coming from New England is evident. Customers' buying of public utilities first saw the light of day in Cambridge

Every year the Associated Gas & Electric System conducts a campaign to extend customer ownership. It is based on the idea that customers will have increased interest in and friendliness toward the company if they are beneficiaries through securities ownership

In the campaign last month the New England group exceeded its quota by 5,832 per cent. Today 96,472 of the 215,664 holders of Associated Gas securities are customers with their investments totaling around $40,000,000.

The unorganized investors' line is seen by Merryle S. Rukeyser as representing a new influence in American politics. Mr. Rukeyser says:

"The substantially larger lists of stockholders of American corporations nowadays make corporation halting by ignorant politicians poor political capital

A series of meetings in various parts of the country is planned by the Security Owners Association to marshal the ideas and desires of these newer capitalists. Former Interstate Commerce Commissioner Thomas F. Woodlock and Professor William Z. Ripley of Harvard attended railroad security authority who conferred with President Hoover at the White House this week, are two of the leading members at a meeting in New York in morrow.

"The notion that the mere number of security holders is a strike can important and united for action in protect their interests is seemingly negatived by the attitude of the automobile world. Here we have the spectacle of 26,661,596 car owners of 1931 unorganized and seemingly indifferent to the repeal of a great mass of absurd laws and ordinances governing their conduct and also offering no united front against the enactment of further mistaken statutes.

"This will be the best farming year that the United States has known for a decade, declares Roger W. Babson, Wellesley economist who has been traveling around the world since studying the agricultural situation

"The farmer was almost the first victim of the present business hospital," Mr. Babson says in The Country Home, "and he will be the first to recover. Some day we will learn how to deal with these ups and downs in business. In the meantime we are under the dominion of certain inevitable laws of trade. When we push business up too high these laws invariably result in pressing it down again."

Mr. Babson is convinced that the farmer's present state is not near ly so bad as has been pictured.

"Politicians are always saving the farmer," he notes. "But when you use the word farmer in Washington everybody thinks of the grain farmer. The Department of Agriculture is always issuing bulletins and reports about the farmer. Of course they always mean the grain farmer. I can go to that telephone now and call up Washington and ask my code if a hundred questions about the wheat crop and they can answer immediately. But if I ask them about spinach they will not know what I am talking about."

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

From the low levels of last Friday many of the market leaders have advanced 2 to 5 points thus piking them in an inviting position for profit taking. Due to the predominance of professional trading at this time, with the public on the side-lines, it was natural the profit taking should flow in today.

Texas Gulf Adds $ Millions to Surplus

Texas Gulf Sulphur was higher most of today's session with good trading reported. Company earnings for the year ended Dec. 31 were around $12,200,000, equal to something like $4.25 a share.

For the year they are also approximate $14,000,000 equal to around $5.50 a share in 1929 earnings were $6.38 a share. The decrease of only 14 per cent in a year of depression compares well with showings of many other lines.

After dividends in 1930 Texas Gulf Sulphur added close to $1 000,000 to surplus

Standard Brands Buying Is Better

For the first time in months noticeable buying is noticeable in Standard Brands To days demand however, is chiefly from the "in" crowd that knows the company will be able to maintain its current dividend rate

Contract Uncertainty Seen for Solvents

Comparative quietness of Commercial Solvents was today a matter of comment and it was reported that quite a few persons unfamiliar with a certain large contract which the company has entered into

Can in Supply on Bulges in Price

Although the stock sold on changed today American Can has been freely supplied on any bulge in prices. There is a sizable short account in Can which permits frequent rallies but the stock has certainly failed to disclose heavy buying demand such as characterized the issue up to the last few we ks American politics, Mr. Rukeyser says

Phillips Pete Has Buying to Cover

Unfavorable short covering has been evident in Phillips Petroleum It is understood that the corporation has just secured a substantial new bank credit There had been rumors that the company planned the issuance of bonds

Montgomery Ward Bought on Scale

Montgomery Ward has been well bought on a scale Demand today from institutions is said to be the accounts of interests very close to its bankers

National Distillers Adds to Its Rise

National Distillers market position since the drastically interpreted the Wickersham report bulls added around 1¾ points to yesterday's boom rise

A. I. C. Needs Rise for Its Holdings

Annual report of American Investment indicates dividend income for the year was around the same as previous Indenture of the bonds requires maintenance of net assets equal to 150 per cent of bonds behind outstanding bonds otherwise no distribution can be made on the stock At the end of 1930 the assets equaled 189 per cent of each bond Dividend action, however, is not due until April and since the corporation is well supplied with cash, future of the dividend will depend on action of the market Incidentally, break up in value of the stock in greater now than at end of 1930, when it equaled almost $20 a share

Drug Sales Are Showing Increases

In trade circles it is said that sales of drugs in a number of lines have been showing substantial increases over those of the corresponding period of December and in some instances have approached the volume of early January of a year ago when a push prevailed That gain has been the result of the rapid spread of cold strip, etc., reports said. Wholesale druggists have been called upon by retailers for supplies and that has forced the wholesalers to replenish their stocks in the past week or ten days

Warren Pipe's Unusual Record

Warren Foundry & Pipe made an unusual record in the past 14 months in that it instituted a dividend basis which it was not earning in full and then proceeded to earn it in 1930. The $2 a share annual rate was established in November, 1929, although for the full year it amounted to only $1.47 a share

However in 1930 the report will show earning in excess of $2 a share earned Disposition of unprofitable properties, together with slightly better cast-iron pipe trade improved net earnings last year Retirement of bonds has helped further Prospects for the year's profitable 1931 are based on projected building programs

Buying Attracted to National Dairy

Buying of stocks in which earnings of food companies held up during 1930 is attracting "long pull" acquisition in National Dairy Products.

Ingersoll-Rand Earnings Prospect

Although no estimates of earnings for Ingersoll-Rand are available, one opinion around the Street is that the 36 a share in common dividends may not have been fully covered last year The company is in a strong liquid position, with almost the largest surplus in its history. It has always been the policy of the management to continue dividend payments through lean years when the cash position justified Ingersoll-Rand usually runs in step with the steel industry, which would indicate that the company's activities last year were not nearly as large as in 1929

Pool Selling in Gillette

Selling which caused the decline in Gillette early this week was said to have been for pool account However the interpretations are placed on the operation One is that the group, which was supposed to start a demonstration against a short position in the stock, had been compelled to liquidate its long position because of market conditions The second version is that this pool had supplied the stock to encourage additional selling so the stock will be in a stronger technical position when the group is ready to begin its work

General Railway Signal's Outlook

The outlook for General Railway Signs, this year is considered encouraging in responsible quarters Orders for the company's products are continuing their activities in installing new systems and where they reduce costs of operation The point has been made that completion of the Pennsylvania merger plan also should benefit the company, but in the opinion of such brokers as President Arthur W. Pennsylvania those consolidations still are several years away

Earnings Report Comparisons Made

Earnings reports compared with those for corresponding period of a year ago and divided approximately by leading companies shape up as follows

	Since New High	1931 Low
Increased earn ngs	34	3
Decreased earnings	68	8
Behaving like stock	195	13
Increased dividends	9
Increased dividends	15
Omitted dividends	19	1

Low-Priced Stocks Appear Well Deflated

Action of a number of low-priced issues during the past several months would seem to indicate that deflation in these securities has been pretty well completed. Despite the heavy liquidation of speculative t ent in November and December those issues in some of the low issues have held above the low established in October

Among these issues are Bohn Aluminum, Electric Auto-Lite, Hershey, International Business Machine, National Power & Light, Purity Bak & R, Pipe & Foundry and U. S. Rubber The action of these stocks tends to confirm the impression that selling in the secondary issues has gone a long way and that quality issues such as liquids on is still proceeding in stocks generally regarded as pivotal issues

Steel Operations Show Increase

Operations of the leading steel companies are beginning to feel the effects of seasonal improvement It is understood that United States Steel as well as the leading independent companies have increased their rate of operations since the first of the year and that further gains will probably be expected As yet, however, it is too early to accurately state whether the current trend in steel operations is anything more than a seasonal development, although in some quarters it is indicated that part of the increase is of a more substantial nature Improvements in the steel trade, consequently will be closely watched for a definite indication as to whether the present improvement in operations is more than seasonal

Anaconda Copper Steadily Absorbed

Anaconda Copper continues to meet with steady buying on all minor recessions from important interests in the copper trade The current buying is not particularly aggressive on the rallies, but takes place on all minor dips. Buying is principally based on the knowledge that the copper situation is gradually reflecting the benefits of the curtailment program and that the price structure is healthier than it has been for months Moreover prices have shown greater stability than they have for some time and trading interests in the trade continue optimistic on the outlook

STEEL PROFITS ESTIMATED LOWER

New York, Jan. 21 (AP) Dow, Jones & Co. today reports:

"Well-informed interests who follow the steel industry closely estimate net earnings for the U. S. Steel corporation for the quarter ended Dec. 31, last, may fall as low as 30 to 40 cents a share."

Previous unofficial estimates heard in Wall Street had indicated that the fourth quarter report, to be issued next week, might show around 90 cents or $1 a share. Final quarter advance estimates are admittedly difficult, because of inventory and other adjustments at the end of the year.

In the quarter ended Sept. 30, net was equal to $2.06 a share If net for the last quarter was only 30 to 40 cents, the 1930 net, after preferred dividends, would be around $9 a share, or $2 more than the annual dividend

U. S. Rubber to Run at Capacity

Detroit, Jan. 21—Production at Detroit plant of United States Rubber Co. will be increased to capacity within the next two months, according to J. O'Shaughnessy, general manager of the tire department.

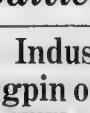
Auto Industry Seen as Kingpin of Recovery

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

New York, Jan. 21—The automobile industry currently better managed than ever before, is setting a fine example to other trades



M. S. Rukeyser

Instead of waiting Micawber for something to happen in the way of a revival to turn up the executives of the motor trade with characteristic ingenuity have offered the public a greater intrinsic value and allurement in the array of new models than before Moreover they have cleansed house, within the industry, and the elimination of dealers' inventories of new and used cars

Through offering greater values they are seeking to induce the public to break the tacit buyers' strike by the simple method of, if they could, instead of holding back and delaying the readjustment by failing to place the maximum concessions to the new mandate for economy and value The automobile industry has become a kingpin of prosperity, but it requires a spiral relationship toward genera, business

My own feeling is that the affluent public will be more disposed to buy automobiles as soon as it is convinced that the genera, economic outlook is better. Since June, 1929 the public has been taking new cars at a subnormal rate, and with normal consumption for the first ten months of last year at a new peak, it is evident that the existing gap will have been put to longer use than would have been the case if business had been prosperous. As a result, many are riding around in disreputable-looking cars and a pent-up demand for new cars has been accumulating and will be unloosed as soon as the curves of business point upward

This though the turn probably must come from other sources such as textiles and other trades making goods going into immediate consumption, the process of recovery will doubtless be accelerated by a subsequent marked revival in the motor industry.

Meantime, the consumers are in the driver's seat. The industry has fully recognized present economic realities and is doing its part intelligently. The current automobile shows emphasize this fact

Ordinarily the prudent investor is suspicious of propositions offering something for nothing And yet recent market hysteria has made it perfectly feasible to acquire standard listed stocks substantially below the current market by acquiring shares of unpopular general management investment trusts At the end of last month, 24 of such trusts were selling at only 71 per cent of their net asset values, compared with 81 per cent at the end of 1929 Before the panic such trusts were selling at substantial and fanciful premiums above their net asset value, capitalizing the extravagant hope of the gullible that the trust managers had some secret formula for making money in stocks without incurring losses When it was found that in great bear markets, such as 1920-21 and 1929-30, even the public, disillusioned, turned away from investment trusts and bought general stocks, prices reflect the existing popular mood Discretionary trusts for the investment in all sorts of liquid assets which constitute a hedge against poor management, are in great demand

A recent survey showed that the decline in net asset value of 24 management trusts was 31.6 per cent in 1931. Meantime there was a decline of 28.4 per cent in stocks according to the Standard Statistics index, and 24 per cent, according to the Dow Jones industrial average.

In other words, these discretionary trusts about reflected the average decline in active stocks But at their prevailing prices between liquidation values, they discount a continuance of a downward trend at the recent rate, which obviously is quite absurd. Even in samuch as it is wholly improbable that at the end of another year or two, standard stocks will be quoted around zero

STEEL RUMOR TURNS STOCKS DOWNWARD

New York, Jan. 21—The stock market grew skittish over the forthcoming steel earnings report today, and industrial issues backed up, halting a broad advance which had developed in the rail shares.

Unfavorable estimates of the fourth quarter steel earnings, to be reported next week, turned the market definitely downward in the afternoon, but it rebound slightly just before the close, and there were few losses of more than a point, and several of the rails closed higher.

CLOSING TONE STEADY.

The movement in the carrier issues began to accelerate more than a dozen up 1 to 4 points be ore the list eased off. The closing tone was steady. Sales totaled 1,407,535 shares, only a little larger than yesterday's.

Issues closing a point or two lower included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, National diecuit, Case, Hudson, Goodyear, Gillette, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse Electric. In the rails Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern and Missouri Pacific preferred closed about a point and Atchison 2.

American Telephone closed about steady. Shorts were generally lower in Auburn, which shot up 9 points.

THESE STEEL EARNINGS

A 2 per cent increase in Steel Mills' output, putting the industry on a 46 per cent basis, against 39 per cent the Christmas week, was the most favorable development of the day and appeared to bear out President James Farrell's contention of an assured increase in business progressively as the year advances.

Next Tuesday the Steel Corporation will report its second half-year 1930 net earnings, which are expected to total $3 a share, making a total of $10 a share for the full year. Wall Street heard reports that the final quarter net earnings might fall under a dollar a share, against dividend requirements of $1.75 a share.

National Biscuit's net earnings in 1929 amounted to $22,872,683, equal to $3.40 a share on 4,310,000 common on $6,206,787 shares. This compares with 1929 net income of $21,425,571 or $3.10 a share on 4,310,000 shares of $25 par outstanding in 1929.

The report of freight car loadings for the week ended January 10, showed a gain of 98,869 cars over the preceding week. This gain was less than the normal seasonal upturn, and the total was the lowest for that week since 1921.

The week's petroleum statistics were somewhat unfavorable, showing a gain of about 800,000 barrels in gasoline stocks, and 9100 in daily crude output.

Electric Power output in the week ended January 17 showed a fair gain from the preceding week, and was only one fifth of one per cent under 1929 but 5.4 per cent under 1930.

CHAIN STORES CUT BREAD

New York, Jan. 21—In connection with the Federal Trade investigation of bread prices, Vice President Lyons of the National Chain Stores Ass'n, pointed out today that chain stores throughout the country have lowered the price of bread generally to the pre-war price of five cents, in conformity with lower cost of wheat and flour.

Reports from large chains in all sections show they cut the price of bread one time, two times, many months before the Senate began to inquire into discrepancy between bread prices and lowered cost of wheat and flour prices.

"In fact," Mr. Lyons continued, "Senator Capper, in his preliminary investigation of bread prices in Distrct of Columbia, told the Senate that 'the only reductions in bread prices to date have been made in chain stores' which maintain their own bakeries.'

"The cut in price has been made by such representative chain companies as First National Stores in New England, Washington Loaf Co., in Middle West, Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., in Northwest, Middle West and South, American Stores in Pennsylvania and surrounding states, Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. stores in all sections, Safeway Stores and Mac-Marr Stores in Northwest and Pacific Coast, and local chains in other sections."

New England Trust Board Re-elected

At annual meeting of New England Trust Co. all directors with the exception of Harlod S. Edwards, who plans to leave the city, were re-elected. Mr. Edwards succeeded Frederick P. Fish died. The board now consists of 28 members, against 28 a year ago.

CURB MARKET ADVANCE IS MODERATE

New York, Jan. 21—The Curb market worked its way to irregularly higher price levels in a moderately active session today, with the resumption of bullish activities in selected issues offsetting the unsettling tone in a number of trading leaders.

Utilities were irregular, with smart advances noted in the less active issues of the group. Among the high spots were Northern States Power up 3, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore up 1⅜, Commonwealth Edison up 1, Electric Power & Light Warrants up 1⅛ and United Gas up 1⅛ at 10¼.

Electric Bond & Share, American Superpower and other active favorites closed fractionally lower.

Cities Service was in steady supply, with the stock selling at a fractionally lower price range throughout most of the day.

Oils were irregularly higher with Gulf, Standard of Indiana, and Standard of Ohio making moderate inroads into higher price territory, as against declines in Pan and more in Standard of Kentucky and Vacuum.

Elsewhere, Atlantic & Pacific stores ran up sharply into the specialty list, scoring a gain of 9 points. Ford of England reached a new high for the year at 18⅜, a gain of almost a point, before receding at the close.

Insull Utility holding was a strong spot in a mixed investment trust list, rising 1⅛ points. Newmont featured the mining list, with a jump of 2 points.

X-RAY
Examination, consultation and trial treatment absolutely free to all who call before 10 A. M. Dr. Buis is a wonderful power of the X-ray and mercury vapor light and has been accomplishing wonders in diseases of every description. Don't put off your health any longer, but remember Daniel J. Walsh, M. D., full-fledged M. D.

STOMACH TROUBLE
Mrs. Joyce Harris, 44 West Rutland Square, Boston, Mass., says: "I had suffered from stomach trouble for three years and could get no relief. I was troubled with gas and shortness of breath. I had called on four or five doctors without result. I read of Dr. Walsh's X-ray and light and went to his office. Mass. Ave., Boston, who testified to Dr. Walsh's ability. I called on him and received such benefit from the first treatment that I continued and have improved so rapidly and feel so much better that I am glad to give him this testimonial to the others who pray for relief. I hope that others who may suffer as I did may know where to go for relief and find it." Mrs. Joyce Harris.

Our Undesirable Aliens

Congress Cowardice Responsible for Their Being Here

Congress is guilty of indefensible neglect of duty in failing to provide for the swift deportation of all undesirable aliens.

Hundreds of thousands of undesirable aliens contaminate this country today.

Most of these undesirables have been driven out by other countries, just as a house-cleaning drives vermin from one house to another.

America urgently needs a house-cleaning that will rid the country of these undesirables and protect the country against their return.

America urgently needs stronger deportation laws, more strictly interpreted and more sternly enforced. That will get rid of some of the undesirable aliens. That will start the house-cleaning.

Consider these facts:

Four hundred thousand aliens are illegally residing here today, according to the latest estimates. Every one of these undesirables broke the law to get in and defies the law by refusing to get out.

Of these four hundred thousand illegal residents, Secretary Doak finds that only one hundred thousand can be deported under existing law, even when the law is strictly interpreted and effectively enforced.

Furthermore, not one of these four hundred thousand illegal residents, under sentence of imprisonment, can be deported until the termination of the punishment because the Immigration Act of March 4, 1924, specifically forbids it.

As a result of this utterly foolish prohibition, convicted aliens are adding to the awful congestion of our jails and living off of our taxpayers.

Congress cannot plead ignorance as an excuse for its failure to act. The necessity for stronger deportation laws has been repeatedly urged upon the Congress by the executive branch of the government.

In his last annual message, President Hoover said:

"I urge the strengthening of our deportation laws so as to more fully rid ourselves of criminal aliens. Furthermore, thousands of persons have entered the country in violation of the immigration laws. The very method of their entry indicates their objectionable character, and our law-abiding foreign-born residents suffer in consequence. I recommend that the Congress provide methods of strengthening the government to correct this abuse."

Senator Davis of Pennsylvania, whose long and excellent service as Secretary of Labor entitles him to speak with authority, has repeatedly told the Congress how this abuse can be corrected.

His successor as Secretary of Labor, Mr. Doak, has just recommended to Congress five specific changes in existing laws to facilitate the deportation of all undesirable aliens.

Congress has all the facts. What Congress needs is the courage to face the facts and follow where they lead.

With millions of American citizens unemployed, the very least that Congress can do to relieve this serious situation is to make it possible for the federal government legally and swiftly to deport every undesirable alien who broke the law to get here and breaks the law by staying here.

Either these four hundred thousand undesirables are holding jobs which American citizens urgently need and to which they have every right, or these undesirables are accepting aid which our own citizens urgently need and to which they have a prior claim.

For the continuance of this disgraceful situation the inaction of Congress is chiefly to blame.

WHY DOES NOT CONGRESS ACT?

The 'Red' Racket

Mayor Curley Calls the Turn

Mr. Canter, Communist chief, marched his "army" of unemployed up the hill to City Hall and he marched them down again.

He got his name on the first page of the newspapers. THAT was a victory.

Mayor Curley offered the leaders jobs. They didn't want them for themselves; they wanted them for the unemployed—they said.

He asked them to propose suggestions for relief of unemployment. They had none.

He asked them if he had done everything the Mayor of a city possibly could do to provide employment. They admitted he had.

Why the demonstration?

The country has more rackets than you could shake a stick at. Most people earn their money by hard work. The others catch hold of a vagrant idea, organize it, assemble a following of dues-paying members and then live in clover themselves.

Some of these agitations are conspired by people behind the scene to bring really progressive movements and worthy labor contests into disrepute that they may suffer the loss of public sentiment.

More often than not the agitators who carry "No God, No Country" banners in labor dispute parades are professionals paid to stir up trouble.

Public officials who can ascertain the sources of the incomes of professional agitators and expose them will be doing the public a real service.

Listen, World!—A Shadow

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Keep Yourself an Adventure

IT'S JUST another one of those letters. Hundreds of them in a week. He isn't interested in her any more. How can he treat her so when she's been a good wife for eight years? "Never had a thought outside her home and husband." Always been there when he wanted her. Never argued or nagged. Lived only for him. Hasn't even tried to have a life of her own.

Elsie Robinson

And there, if she but knew it, is the secret of his indifference. She was an adventure when he courted her. She was new and mysterious and unexpected. He wasn't sure of her. He didn't know what she'd do next. She had a life of her own, then—a personality of her own. And so, because she was outside him, because she had strange qualities, she tantalized and stimulated him.

She really enlarged his life and he coveted her because she did.

Of course, he didn't realize that that was why he coveted her. He just called it "love." Like most of us, he knew nothing of the real nature of love. But that was the real secret of her allure and power—she was different—herself was she.

Then she married him and stopped being herself. She stopped trying to think differently, act differently. She bent all her energies to being a part of him—to doing things the way he liked them, to becoming his shadow, his echo. What happened? You know what happened. It always happens.

Little by little the mystery dropped from her and the charm faded. She became familiar, common—tiresome. He was bored and showed it. She couldn't understand. Wasn't she doing everything possible to please him? Then why wasn't he satisfied? Why was he so cold? When she cried and reproached him, his indifference turned to dislike. He had a queer, bitter feeling of resentment, as though she'd failed him—cheated him.

She had!

He married her because she was one thing. She turned out to be quite another. He married her because she was Herself—a different self with strange, alluring qualities. Being another, different self, she brought new interests and conflicts and adventures into his life and enlarged it.

And now she is no longer herself. She is only a tiresome repetition of himself. He doesn't want an echo or a shadow.

He wants to adventure. But she has deserted herself. She is no longer an adventure for herself. And so she is no longer an adventure for him.

That's why many marriages fail. That's also why many individual lives fail.

Why are some people popular and powerful? That's why. They are different. And they treasure and develop that differentness. They keep themselves an adventure.

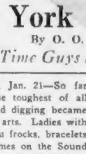
New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

Good Time Guys Shy on Money Now

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—So far this has been the toughest of all winters since gold digging became one of the grand arts. Ladies with a letch for Patou frocks, bracelets from Cartier, homes on the Sound and apartments on the Gold Coast have found the track muddy, the going rough.

Tabloids are popping with all sorts of suits, the gold digger's final despairing gesture when other shake-downs fail. In more opulent days, philandering gentlemen would pass out chunks of "heart balm" at interv als to head off love nest headlines. But not any more.



Good Time Charlies haven't the dough. Most of them depended upon stock transactions for loose expenditures, but that source temporarily dried up. So they have turned in their hide-away flat keys, accepted the figurative sock on the chin and await fairer weather. Kale and farewell!

More than 1000 satin spun apartments on the West Side were emptied after the mid-summer market crash. Innumerable jewels, white ermine coats and other trappings of the furred fauna went to hock-shops. The second-hand auto market was suddenly flooded with imported limousines.

Declasse damsels have scattered. Many have gone back to their little home towns, where they were believed "to hold responsible positions in the city." Others are sheltered in rooming houses and a few have returned to the promiscuity of the pavements.

The type had 10 magnificent years, neither toiling nor spinning. They luxuriated most of the day in dressmaking parlors and beauty salons and then waited in highly polished splendor at their apartments for the initialed gentlemen known to elevator runners as "Mr. X."

They compose an orchidaceous guild only prosperity fosters. As one tipsy lily expressed it in a hush parlor hack-room:

"All the important money guys are family fires'ders. And here we are sitting around speakeasies crying into our gin."

The four magicians with the greatest box office sway are Howard Thurston, Nate Leipzig, Fred Keating and John Mulholland. Each is a deft purveyor of bright patter, which is the biggest asset of the prestidigitator.

The psychology of dress is applied to radio announcers. Their's is a voice in the darkness but they "dress for the part." Many broadcasting stations require dinner clothes after 8, discovering meticulous habiliments improve the mood.

Several radio stars are unable successfully to broadcast without an audience. When they step to the microphone a crowd faces them. In this way they get "the feel" of audience reaction. Otherwise they lack usual spontaneity.

During a call from a back home visitor today an airplane zoomed overhead with a squawking radio ballyhooing a Broadway show. It announced this chronicler as one of the many who enjoyed the performance. I tried to let on it was nothing unusual—you know, indulging a wry little smile of recognition and talking casually of other things. Never before have I reached such heights of blaseosity. And it would not take heavy argument to convince me I may yet become quite a card.

Yet it strikes me Life is always offering a handicap to those trying to put on the lug. There are frequently occasions when I want to express myself in a grandiose manner to impress some outlander. The other evening over the coffee cups there was such an opportunity. In replying to a query about a certain author I tried to say: "He is the direct antithesis!" But it was such a struggle against the upper plate that "antithesis" came out the shrill, clear whistle of a peanut stand.

* * *

Assiduously is another word that always struck me as good Mayfair and I try to slide it in at the auspicious moment. But "asterisk" is my Waterloo. The last time I tried to pronounce it a couple of dogs jumped in my lap. So I've abandoned it completely. The hell with it.

No Substitute for Devotion

True Genius Is the Genius of SINCERITY

AT WORK IN A BENEDICTINE MONASTERY

This picture shows a monk of the Benedictine monastery on the Island of Lerin at work on a small statue of St. Theresa.

It is a picture interesting to those that admire antique works of art and marvel at their earnest sincerity.

Old pictures and statues are beautiful because they were SINCERE, and they were sincere because those that made them worked in full and complete faith and devotion.

For SINCERITY, in any kind of work, ancient or modern, there is NO SUBSTITUTE. Many a painter and sculptor of old worked on a religious subject, with tears on his cheeks, feeling intensely the suffering and the holiness that he portrayed.

The modern artist works without tears. He paints his Madonna, thinking more of himself and his technique than of that which he portrays.

The most magnificent building in the world, Saint Peter's, at Rome, was designed and built by Michelangelo, who wrote to the Pope under whose orders the work was done: "Your Holiness knows that unless it shall benefit my soul, this work is of no profit to me."

He had been complaining of unsatisfactory materials supplied by contractors. Such things happened even in those days.

Michelangelo was not interested in money, but was interested, profoundly, in producing a great work of art. Unfortunately for the world, he was sent for a long period to develop marble quarries, work that could have been done by any engineer, and thus much of his time was wasted. However, he stands far above all the other artists ever born on earth.

In his Statue of Moses he created such a super-man as Nietzsche never could imagine.

And his women painted in the Sistine Chapel are such as the human race may strive vainly to produce for a thousand centuries to come.

The lesson of this picture is that to be successful you must be sincere, or as Dante said, "As nature works, in fire."

Bonus Would Aid All

Payment Now of Certificates Would Release Billions

Every state in the Union, every county, city and township, would benefit by the payment of the veterans' bonus now.

To date 3,478,956 veterans of the Great War hold adjusted service certificates for amounts from $51 to $1565. The average amount exceeds $1000.

Payment of the certificates now would mean the release of some three and one-half thousands of millions of dollars to the veterans to meet the necessities of life, including the education of their children.

This vast sum would be dispersed north, east, south and west, because the veterans came from and have returned to every section of the United States.

Veterans in the State of New York would be paid $354,996,000 and their comrades in the State of Washington $49,543,000.

Nebraska veterans would be paid $42,516,000 and their Maryland comrades $46,381,000.

Pennsylvania veterans would get $268,588,000, Illinois veteran $240,340,000 and Texas veterans $142,306,000.

Take, for example, the sorely stricken State of Arkansas. Thousands of its citizens are in the most dire distress, due to flood damage in 1927 and 1928, the ravages of the boll weevil in 1929 and bank failures, drouth and general depression in 1930.

Red Cross workers in that state estimate that they will have to help more than 50,000 families before the winter is over—which means more than 250,000 persons.

Think what it would mean to the government and people of this afflicted state if the federal government would pay now the $52,384,000 which it owes to the veterans of Arkansas.

It would not only be a great help to the veterans of Arkansas, as Representative Glover said in the House of Representatives the other day, "but it would be a great help to the state as a whole. And what is true of that state is true of all the other states."
